

CHARGE MURDER PLOT BY GOV. LONG

RELIEF BILL BURDEN FALLS ON PRESIDENT

Hoover Must Be Responsible
Despite Desire to Avoid Dictation

FEE PLANS ARE TABOO Principles Expressed During Campaign Likely to Be Basis for Action

Washington — Responsibility for the making of farm relief will be on President Hoover notwithstanding his desire to avoid the appearance of dictating to congress.

The conferences between farm leaders and the chief executive have developed the fact that one of the reasons the president wants to have the initiative taken by congress is that he feels the principles that should govern farm relief are well known and established and were fought out in the last campaign. This means, of course, that any equalization fee or excise tax plan need not be considered from the start and that the broad principles which were expressed by Mr. Hoover in his campaign speeches may be taken as a basis for action. Congressional leaders know the limitations which Mr. Hoover thinks should be placed on governmental cooperation with the farmers of the country. He is willing that a revolving fund large enough to furnish loans through a federal farm board should be put into operation. He wants local corporations to act as clearing houses for the cooperatives and the non-cooperative farmers. All these local associations would function through affiliation with the federal farm board. Indeed, a system analogous to the federal reserve board in the handling of the finances of the country will probably be set up to help organize agriculture but the initiative and control will be largely with the producers themselves and the federal government's part will be chiefly that of coordination.

FEE GREAT OBSTACLE

In the last days of the session of congress which adjourned just before the national conventions, there was a chance for an agreement in the senate on everything but the equalization fee. The house was ready to act too. Mr. Coolidge had proposed also that the bill sponsored by Senator Fess of Ohio, a measure of governmental cooperation such as had not been indicated before by his administration. So with all these proposals well enough known to congress and its leaders, Mr. Hoover feels it is something for congress to work out. He has staunch friends in both houses who will not let any principle be embodied in the new bill that is objectionable to him and at the same time the bill will have the benefit of advice from all elements including those that backed the McNary-Haugen bill constantly.

Nearly any bill that congress works out will be satisfactory to the president provided the measure has a feature or equalization fee plan are eliminated. Under the circumstances Mr. Hoover would, therefore, prefer to have the agricultural committees of congress take the leadership though in the last analysis the responsibility for putting the plan through will be that of Mr. Hoover and his friends on Capitol Hill. As the measures pass through committee and into debate in both houses there will be many amendments suggested. President Hoover does not wish to commit himself in favor of anything that may be in the bill at the outset less an opportunity for improvement or compromise be presented before the measure is voted on for final passage.

There is no inclination on the president's part to shirk the task steering congress but in the initial stages the congress will be expected to work with the tools already provided—namely, the bills that have been suggested heretofore without the equalization fee.

TO REORGANIZE G. O. P. MACHINERY IN SOUTH

Washington —(AP)—Reorganization of the Republican party machinery in South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi was decreed Tuesday by President Hoover as a result of disclosures in connection with the handling of federal patronage in those states.

The composition of the new party machinery in these states will be left to citizens there, but in the event of the failure of this plan, other steps will be taken by the national organization to set up an effective organization.

At the same time, the president disclosed that patronage recommendations from other states of the "solid south" would be made by special committees which will cooperate with Democrats who supported the Republican ticket in the last presidential campaign.

Post-Crescent Enlarges Its News Service

2 HIGH SPEED WIRES BRING A. P. REPORT

Telegraphic Service Outstanding Among Wisconsin Newspapers

The Post-Crescent has just completed arrangements with the Associated Press for the early installation of an enlarged service that will be second to none outside the larger cities, and which will give it a news report outstanding among Wisconsin newspapers. It will more than double the volume of telegraph news it receives each day. It will give Post-Crescent readers a page of market and financial news each evening.

Important mechanical improvements are to be made which will greatly increase production facilities. SPECIAL CIRCUITS The Post-Crescent has had this program of expansion in mind during the last year. For months it has been negotiating with the Associated Press for the installation of improved news service. A plan has been finally worked out by the traffic department especially for this newspaper and the Green Bay Press-Gazette, and will be put into effect as speedily as possible and as soon as the necessary equipment can be manufactured and delivered.

The Post-Crescent is at present on a circuit of Wisconsin newspapers, which receive by leased wire from the Associated Press a news report of approximately 14,000 words daily. The report is made up at Milwaukee from trunk wires running through that city. Under the new arrangement two through wires directly and exclusively to Appleton and Green Bay will be installed, running from A. P. to 2 P. M. The main wire will be direct from Chicago, and the second wire from Milwaukee.

TIGERTON MAN KILLS HIS SON AND SELF

Complained That Son Never Did Day's Work During 40 Years on Earth

Tigerton —(AP)—John Martin, 70, towns of Bowler in the western part of Shawano co., Tuesday shot and killed his son, Reinhold, 40, while the latter was asleep, and then turned the shotgun on himself, firing twice through his temple. Both men died almost instantly.

The older man, who is survived by widow, is said to have been despondent over financial matters.

Fellow workmen and acquaintances here often heard Mr. Martin complain that the "boy," Reinhold, had not done a day's work in his 40 years on earth, this complaint became more bitter as the years went on and was advanced as one theory for the shooting Monday.

Reinhold was of less than average height and weighed more than 200 pounds. Another son, Arthur, also unmarried, shot himself at the farm about 12 years ago.

Mrs. Martin, 63, who is partly deaf, heard the shots. She believed that they were outside and went to investigate. When she entered the living room, she found her husband sitting in a chair swaying from side to side, a wound in his head. He died before her eyes.

She hastened to awaken the son, only to discover that he had been slain, apparently in his sleep. Leaving the house, she hurried a mile to the home of John Dahl, who telephoned authorities.

Panic Breaks Out During Ring Battle In Coliseum

Chicago —(AP)—Panic broke out at the Coliseum Monday night during the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson boxing match for the National Boxing association welterweight title, and more than two score persons were injured in the resultant pandemonium. Two persons were injured so seriously that they may die.

There were 5,500 men and women in the building when a fight started in the east balcony. Cries of "fight" went up. By many the cry was understood as "fire" and the crowd became panic-stricken.

The fight, in the eighth round, itself had roused the crowd to high excitement, and when the furore broke out in the balcony it spread quickly.

EUROPE JOINS IN TRIBUTE TO FOCH

STOCKS CRASH AS MONEY RATE HITS NEW HIGH

Steadier Tone at Opening Yields as Rate Is Moved to 20 Per Cent

New York —(AP)—The stock market broke open again Tuesday when the call money rate was jacked up to 20 per cent, the highest level in nine years, losses in many of the high priced issues ranging from $5 to nearly $35 a share, with at least 100 stocks in new low ground for the year.

At 2 o'clock the ticker was 64 minutes late. This is the first time that call loans have commanded a 20 per cent rate since Feb. 5, 1920, on which date they renewed at 17 and closed at 20.

The market closed weak, with the ticker 75 minutes late at 2:30. Total sales set a new record close at 8,000,000 shares.

The market opened fairly steady Tuesday morning, despite the hundreds of margin calls sent out Monday night, but a 12 per cent renewal rate for call money started a secondary wave of selling which increased rapidly when the rate jumped 12 to 15 per cent, and rumors were circulated that the supply of funds was scarce at the higher figure, and a further increase was likely.

TICKER LAGS BEHIND Total sales crossed the 3,000,000 share mark shortly after midday, with the ticker lagging nearly 40 minutes behind the market at 1 o'clock.

Brooklyn Edison dropped $34.50 a share. Adams Express, which broke $49.50 a share Monday morning, fell $10.25 and Russia Insurance, Wright Aeronautical, Kroger Stores, Green Cananea Copper, Industrial Rayon, International Telephone, American Tobacco B. Radio, Foundation Company, Allied Chemical, International Telephone and Johns Manville were carried down $5 to $10 a share in the flood of selling which poured over the brokerage wires from all sections of the country.

Standing room was at a premium in all of the large commission houses, and urgent telephone calls for more margin went out by the hundreds as quoted values were washed away.

The ticker tape was 55 minutes behind the market at 1:30 p. m., with indications at that time that total sales would set a new high record for all time. The previous record was 6,942,500 shares on Nov. 23, 1923.

GRAIN PRICES FALL Chicago —(AP)—Grain prices underwent a big tumble Tuesday as a result of heavy selling in connection with stock market weakness.

Wheat fell as much as 6 1/2 cents a bushel and corn 5 1/2 cents compared with early quotations Tuesday. The break carried wheat 5 1/2 cents and corn 4 1/2 cents to below yesterday's finish.

Chicago —(AP)—Further testimony to show that the Chicago Sanitary district has nearly fulfilled the department requirements for division of Lake Michigan water for sewage purposes was offered Tuesday by Charles Evans Hughes, special master in chancery.

Edmond D. Adcock, attorney for the city and state of Illinois, called for the sewage of this region, called Langdon Pearce as first witness.

Mr. Pearce is the sanitary district engineer and he traced the construction work done in compliance with the war department's requirements since 1927. Six sewage treatment plants were described, the permit of 1925, which allowed Chicago to take 5,500 cubic feet of water per second from the lake, having specified construction of plants to carry for 1,200,000 persons by Dec. 31, 1929. Major General Edgar B. Jadin, chief of army engineers, testified that "with accomplishment of sewage purification plants expected before December, 1929, division of 7,250 cubic feet to maintain navigation in the Chicago river is necessary."

The district today is diverting 1,200 cubic feet per second.

FOX RIVER LEVEL IS GOING UP AT OSHKOSH

Oshkosh —(AP)—The Gaulte gauge at the Main St. bridge over the Fox river here Tuesday registered a height of 17 1/2 inches above normal. This is a rise of 2 1/2 inches since Monday. While the water is still rising and is beginning to back up in sewers, there is flood danger imminent here unless heavy rains should occur it was said.

FLIER HOPS OFF FROM TEXAS TO HIS COUNTRY

Houston, Texas —(AP)—Major Oscar Morales Lopez, Guatemalan army officer, took off from Ellington field near here at 7:11 Tuesday morning on a one-stop flight to Guatemala City, Guatemala. He hoped to reach Mexico City Tuesday afternoon to spend the night before resuming his flight Wednesday.

Huge Liner Is Burning In Germany

Europa, Christened Last August, Badly Damaged by Flames at Hamburg

BULLETIN New York —(AP)—The New York offices of the North German Lloyd line were advised Tuesday that the fire on the Europa might cause loss of more than $20,000,000.

Hamburg —(AP)—There was grave fear Tuesday that the North German Lloyd line's new 46,000 ton liner, the Europa, might sink as a consequence of a fire which raged in its forepart.

Fire tugs, combating the flames, were ordered to draw away from the hulk, lest the ship in capsizing draw them into its vortex.

All other vessels in the neighborhood were ordered quickly to prevent a possible spread in their direction. Whether parts of the ship could be saved or not, it was apparent early that the finer sections must, for practical purposes, be considered.

Cause of the fire had as yet not been determined. It spread with alarming rapidity, aided by strong winds, from the forepart to the middle section of the liner. The fire department's work was greatly hampered by the darkness.

At 1:10 in the afternoon the Europa was still burning. It was listed until its starboard rested on the ground.

The theory was advanced that the fire was caused when a night watchman threw away a burning cigarette.

LAUNCHED LAST AUGUST The North German Lloyd liner Europa was launched at Hamburg on Aug. 15 of last year, being christened by Jacob Gould Schurman, the American ambassador to Germany.

Together with her sister ship the Bremen, the Europa was to constitute the company's largest and proudest transatlantic vessel. The Bremen was launched the next day, being christened by President von Hindenburg.

The new liners are four screw boats and were expected to make the trip from Bremen to New York in six days and from Southampton in five. They were to have been placed in service this spring.

NEARLY MET DEMANDS IN DIVERSION CASE

Washington —(AP)—A plan for extension of banking credit to agriculture was formulated Tuesday by officials of seven farm cooperative marketing associations who conferred in an all-day study of the pending farm relief legislative program.

The rural credit program was agreed upon at a morning session of the cooperative organizations which then presented it to a joint meeting with representatives of the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Farmers' Union. The program would call for two revisions of the existing federal farm loan machinery.

One proposed change of the existing federal farm loan machinery called for the addition to the functions of the intermediate credit banks of a $200,000,000 revolving fund which would be used as loans to farm marketing organizations to refund plant and warehouse obligations with a long period amortization plan. The other was for the reduction of the minimum time limit on commodity loans from six months to six days and for a 50 per cent increase of the maximum amount of these loans after hedging of the commodity on a recognized contract market.

ONE MAN MISSING IN POWDER PLANT BLAST

Philadelphia —(AP)—Three thousand pounds of nitro-glycerine exploded in a small frame house in the Du Pont Powder company plant at Glastonbury, N. J. Tuesday. One man working in the place is missing.

ITALIAN CARDINAL DIES, CUTTING COLLEGE TO 60

Rome —(AP)—Cardinal Aurelio Galati died Tuesday morning at the age of 61. His death reduced the Sacred College to 60, of whom 27 are Italians and 33 foreigners.

TWO SPANISH FLIERS CROSS OCEAN SAFELY

Travel 4,000 Miles, Landing at Bahia—800 Miles Short of Goal

BULLETIN Willard, N. Mex. —(AP)—Okeh Bevis forced down here early Tuesday by engine trouble on his attempted non-stop solo flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Rio Janeiro —(AP)—Two young Spanish aviators realized at Bahia Tuesday morning a dream of years and achieved the seventh successful crossing of the south Atlantic ocean.

Captains Francisco Jimenez and Ignacio Iglesias failed to break the record long distance flight held by the Italians Arturo Ferrarin and Carlo Del Prete, falling short of it by about 800 miles. But they did bring to the glory of Spain one of the greatest of long distance flights.

Leaving Seville, Spain, at 5:42 p. m. (12:42 p. m. eastern standard time) Sunday afternoon, they winged their way to Bahia, 4,000 miles away across the south Atlantic ocean.

From the time they were sighted at Cape Blanco, in the African Spanish province of Rio del Oro, at 4:30 Monday afternoon until they landed at Bahia at 10:30 a. m. (8:30 a. m. E. S. T.) Tuesday morning, they had a most eventful journey.

At 1:10 in the afternoon the Europa was still burning. It was listed until its starboard rested on the ground.

The theory was advanced that the fire was caused when a night watchman threw away a burning cigarette.

LAUNCHED LAST AUGUST The North German Lloyd liner Europa was launched at Hamburg on Aug. 15 of last year, being christened by Jacob Gould Schurman, the American ambassador to Germany.

ASK BUSINESS MEN TO FARM HEARINGS

Morgan and Ford to Be Requested to Help Solve Problems of Farmers

Washington —(AP)—The senate agriculture committee decided Tuesday to invite a group of big business men, including Henry Ford and J. P. Morgan, to assist it in solving the farm problem.

Washington —(AP)—A plan for extension of banking credit to agriculture was formulated Tuesday by officials of seven farm cooperative marketing associations who conferred in an all-day study of the pending farm relief legislative program.

CHILD CRUSHED WHEN HORSE TEAM RUNS AWAY

Marshallfield —(AP)—The three-year-old daughter of Herman Baker, a farmer living six miles north of Granton, was crushed to death Tuesday when a horse team she was riding on ran away and struck her.

The child was riding on the back of a horse team when it ran away and struck her. She was killed instantly.

REBELS' WESTERN ARMY IS REPORTED IN FULL FLIGHT

Mexico City —(AP)—The rebels' western army was in precipitate flight Tuesday after abandonment of its attack on Mazatlan, General Jaime Carrillo, commanding rebel forces there, reported to the government.

The dispatch followed a message to the embassy from William P. Blocker, American consul at Mazatlan, that the five-day attack on Mazatlan had ceased and that the rebels were in retreat with the federal command of the situation.

The retreat is regarded here as permitting development of the strategy of General Calles to force the rebels into the state of Sonora where he can concentrate his attack on "extermination."

General Carrillo reported that he had captured rebels in the fighting at Mazatlan who told that the rebel leaders, Francisco Manzo and Robles, had been quarrelling.

Vinje Rites Held Today At Capital

Dr. E. A. Birge Pays Tribute to Late Chief Justice of Supreme Court

Madison —(AP)—Final tribute to the memory of And J. Vinje, chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme court, who died Saturday, was paid Tuesday by officials and citizens of the commonwealth.

For two hours the jurist's body lay in state in the supreme court chambers of the capitol before the bar of the court which he served for 18 years.

State officers, members of the judiciary and private citizens filed past the casket to pay their respects. At 10 o'clock the body was taken to the First Unitarian church where services were conducted by the Rev. H. H. Lumphkin of the Grace Episcopal church. An address of tribute was delivered by E. A. Birge, president emeritus of the University of Wisconsin, of which Justice Vinje was a graduate.

Capitol offices were closed in the course of the morning and the legislature suspended its business until after the funeral services committee from both the senate and assembly attended the memorial.

At 10 o'clock the top of the casket was closed to the intermittent stream of persons that had passed the bier since early morning. The pall bearers took up the casket and carried it slowly down the marble steps of the capitol and out the northwest door.

The two-block procession started to the Unitarian church. A raw spring wind chilled the participants in the solemn procession.

Between the double rank of nearly a hundred honorary pallbearers the casket was carried into the church and placed before the altar banked high with flowers.

The Rev. Lumphkin intoned the solemnity phrases of the Episcopal funeral services to the audience which packed the small church room. Dr. Birge, in purposely conversational tones, described Justice Vinje as a "Judge who not only had integrity, but loved justice who had been loved for more than thirty years by the people of the state because of his devotion to justice."

Those inside the cathedral did not number more than 5,000, although in their midst were the president of the nation, the heir to the throne of the British empire, the crown of Belgium, and other figures whose earthly roles had a close and vital relation with the lives of their fellow men.

They stood in awed silence in front of the bier where the body of the late marshal lay in its flag-draped coffin atop a catafalque.

Outside the "Aux Champs"—"To the Fields"—was sounded by a long bugler and unconsciously most of those inside the famous old cathedral stiffened, even came to attention. The habit of war days, when Marshal Foch was generalissimo, was too strong.

At 10:55 in the morning the cortege formed outside Notre Dame and began moving toward Les Invalides. While all the church bells in Paris tolled it turned into the long broad ribbon of the Rue de l'Amiral behind an automobile filled with police officials which cleared the way and two mounted patrols of the Republican guard preceded by buglers.

The mounted guards filed the street from side to side. Behind them came the horizon lines uniform of French infantry. The captives were a hundred wounded and with them in trucks after burying their dead, except officers, on the hillside from which they started their attack. Carrillo said there were 58 known rebel dead, three federal dead and seven wounded in the five days sporadic attack on the city. One civilian woman was killed and six women and eight men wounded, two seriously.

General Calles in a message to Chapultepec expressed a belief his columns would have complete control of the state of Sinaloa within a short time and that the rebels would make no further stand in the state.

THRONGS ARE LARGER THAN AT ARMISTICE

Nearly All Nations of World Represented at National Funeral

Paris —(AP)—The last bugle call was sounded Tuesday over the body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the mighty allied armies, as France bowed in honor before his bier.

It was not only glory but deep and abiding love that the marshal carried with him under the dome of the Invalides where he rests in company with Napoleon and other great figures of French military history.

For genuine and deep emotion, nothing in this city's age-old history could approach the ceremony which Paris witnessed Tuesday.

From high and low sympathy came, from royalty, presidents, ambassadors, marshals, generals and premiers, from the mass of the people, the midwives, the working men, the clerks and the pious whom Marshal Foch loved and admired so deeply.

For his country, for his faith, premier Poincare pronounced the last words of tribute and gratitude. Then the body was laid to rest. But before that there has been a deeply impressive funeral procession through the streets of sorrowing Paris.

Not even in the days when the English king, Henry VI, was crowned was there a more impressive service at Notre Dame. The rites, in which church and state were joined to do honor to the man who twice saved France from an invader, began with the appearance of President Doumergue, who entered the great doorway of the cathedral as the strains of "De Profundis" swelled from its organs.

Those inside the cathedral did not number more than 5,000, although in their midst were the president of the nation, the heir to the throne of the British empire, the crown of Belgium, and other figures whose earthly roles had a close and vital relation with the lives of their fellow men.

ZEPPELIN BELIEVED ON WAY TOWARD PALESTINE

Rome —(AP)—The giant dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, was believed Tuesday to be flying over the central Mediterranean toward Palestine and the Holy Land on the second day of its cruise from Friedrichshafen. The dirigible passed here at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, circled the city three times and left for Naples in continuation of its trip down the west side of the "Italian boot."

ARRESTED FOR FOURTH TIME, HE BLAMES WIFE

Wausau —(AP)—Leo Richter, arrested for the fourth time in four years on a charge of violating the Severe Prohibition act, pleaded not guilty in the Marathon co. court Tuesday. He declared that he did not own the establishment, but was merely a boarder, paying money for his board to his wife. He declared her to be the actual owner of the place. Richter was held for trial.

ICE IN GREEN BAY IS REPORTED BREAKING UP

Menominee, Mich. —(AP)—The break-up of the Green Bay ice field has started, according to John Barlow, of this city who returned from Fox, Mich., with the report that the bay was all open water north to Cedar river.

The southwest wind, he said, was carrying the ice out into Lake Michigan through the Death Door and Rock Island passages. This is about the normal time for the Green Bay spring break-up.

19 COUNTS IN OUSTER MOVE IN LOUISIANA

Ex-fighter Says Long, With Liquor-odor on Breath, Asked Him to Kill

Representatives in Riotous Session During Attempt to Start Inquiry

Baton Rouge, La. —(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana, was charged with attempting to hire and induce one H. A. Bozeman, Jr., a member of the Louisiana House of Representatives, in an impeachment resolution drafted for presentation Tuesday in the legislature.

The charge was made in the last of 10 counts contained in the resolution and was based on a sworn affidavit of H. A. (Battling) Bozeman, former personal attendant of Governor Long and former employee of the Louisiana Highway commission.

Bozeman swore that about five weeks ago Governor Long, with the odor of liquor on his breath, called him into his office and said he was planning to call an extra session of the legislature and that Representative J. Y. Sanders, Jr., would oppose all of his measures.

"I have chosen you to do away with this (epithet)," Bozeman quoted the governor as saying. "I mean for you to kill the (epithet), leave him in the ditch where nobody will know how or when he got there," the affidavit said.

"I am governor of this state and if you were to let him out, I would give you a full pardon, and I would give you a full pardon, and I would give you a full pardon," the ex-prize fighter further quoted the governor.

In other counts the resolution Tuesday charged "Huey P. Long, governor of the state of Louisiana, has been guilty of crimes and misdemeanors in office, incompetency, corruption, favoritism, oppression in office and gross misconduct."

A riotous session of the house of representatives Monday night marked the beginning of the governor's policies and an attempt to investigate his office.

There was one casualty in the uproarious session as members rushed over the press tables, stormed the speakers stand and caused retirement of Speaker John B. Fournet. Blood was drawn from the forehead of Representative Clinton Sayes of Avoyelles, who was caught in the rush.

Chairs were upset and objects about legislators' desks flew about with shouts that the voting machines were "fixed" when the speaker announced a vote to adjourn sine die 68 for and 13 against.

The motion to adjourn put by administration forces a few minutes after the house met blocked an effort of opposition to Long to introduce a bill for an investigation of the governor's office.

After less than an hour's session Tuesday morning the house adjourned until 3 o'clock and the senate until 3:30 in the afternoon to permit the use of the house chamber for the opening of highway bids. Anti-administration leaders said the impeachment charges would be presented at the afternoon session.

Forbid Heavy Loads On Highways In Outagamie

DRIVERS WHO GO OVER LIMIT MAY BE FINED

Two Jack Scales to Measure Weights Are Purchased by Committee

Truck drivers who insist on driving on Outagamie highways with loads heavier than the limitations set this week by Frank Appleton, acting highway commissioner, may find themselves facing court as a result of action taken by the county highway committee Monday afternoon.

At the request of Mr. Appleton the committee voted to purchase two jack scales for weighing trucks for the coming season. Officer Steidl will be instructed to begin checking trucks for loads as soon as the scales arrive. Mr. Steidl will start work at once.

Mr. Appleton, who assumed the work of highway commissioner this week upon instructions from the highway committee, of which he is chairman, set the limit for loads at 7,000 pounds on unsurfaced roads and paved roads of not more than nine feet width. On paved roads more than nine feet wide the loads are restricted to 12,000 pounds.

Heavy loads cause roads to go to pieces much faster, especially when the frost is leaving the ground, Mr. Appleton explained. Paved highways often are cracked and broken as the result of having to bear exceedingly heavy weights when the frost is leaving the ground on which the pavement rests.

This will be the first year that a strenuous effort will be made to enforce the weight limitation regulations.

ELECT STEIDL OFFICER

Officer Steidl was elected from a field of 13 candidates for the office. He received four votes and Peter J. Blanshan, Seymour, received one. Others who were candidates for the office were: Earl Wooden, Rhinehart Bohnsack, Ferdinand Schultz, Oscar Kuehn, Stephen McCarthy and Clarence Loev, Appleton; Andrew Miller, Raymond Welch, Tom McCann, Anton Herman and Mike Grissmon, Kaukauna.

One more county motorcycle officer is to be appointed but the appointment will not be made until after the April session of the county board.

Mr. Steidl served the county as motorcycle officer last year. Mr. Blanshan also worked for the county last year.

N. P. Hayes, an engineer with the district state highway office at Green Bay, presented to the committee a tentative budget of state grant allotment for maintenance work in Outagamie county during the coming season. It is estimated that the county will receive $33,569.60. Of this amount $30,000 will be used for various patrol sections; $700 for center line marking; $3,500 for tarring cracks and replacing broken corners on concrete pavements; $2,000 for repairing culvert end walls and removing grass and weeds from ditches; $1,800 for patrol superintendent's salary; and the balance of $19,569.70 is to be used for various road improvements in the county.

These improvements are to be determined by the highway committee acting with the division highway office.

An opinion presented by Stanley A. Staidl, district attorney, informed the committee that, as he interpreted the law, a member of the county board at present was eligible to be appointed highway commissioner providing he was not a member of the board after April 1.

COULD NAME SUCCESSOR
Mr. Staidl also told the committee that it was his interpretation of the law that the committee had the power to appoint a successor to A. G. Brusevitz who died recently, without the sanction of the county board. The committee's appointment would hold office until Jan. 7, 1930, at which time his successor, appointed by the county board at its November session, 1929, would take the office.

The district attorney said he had written the attorney general for confirmation of these opinions and that definite word would be had by the end of the week.

Members of the committee, after the business meeting, went to the

POSTPONE REHEARSAL OF SCOUT DRUM CORPS

The regular weekly rehearsal of the valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps scheduled for 7:30 Wednesday evening at Army G has been postponed because Robert Schneider and John Paul Jones, corps leaders, will leave Wednesday afternoon on their spring vacations. The leaders are students at Lawrence college.

Washington — The lottery, long prohibited in the United States, as a form of gambling, is finding its way into the country by means of the radio. The problem has been placed squarely before the federal radio commission, but that body is powerless to act. There is no provision in the radio act prohibiting the broadcasting of lottery advertising. The commission itself is restricted from issuing a regulation against such advertising or any other kind of program matter under the terms of the same act, which forbids it to exercise any power of censorship over programs.

The latest complaint against lottery advertising is brought by a newspaper, the Standard Examiner of Ogden, Utah, James P. Casey, editor, in a letter to Senator Smoot of Utah, called attention to the fact that this form of advertising is being accepted by radio stations in his own state, as well as in other parts of the country. On the other hand, he explained, newspapers are prohibited from transmitting lottery advertising through the mails, and thus lose an appreciable amount of advertising.

"I wish you would let me know just what provision, if any, has been made to permit lottery advertising to be broadcast over the radio," writes Mr. Casey. "As radio is under federal supervision, it seems hardly fair to bar this class of advertising from the newspapers, and permit it over the radio."

CAN'T ACT AT ONCE
Commissioner Harold A. Lafount, representing the Far Eastern radio zone, to whom Senator Smoot referred the complaint, declares that the commission, under the law, can take no immediate action, although the practice of disseminating information about lotteries in interstate commerce is admittedly an infraction of the law. The commission, however, he observes, can consider this question when acting upon the application of the broadcasting licenses of the particular stations which have been accepting such advertising.

He is suggesting to Mr. Casey that the proper way to bring a complaint against such stations is to file with the commission an affidavit describing as accurately as possible the programs or practices which are considered objectionable and not in the public interest.

This and other cases which constantly are brought before the commission indicate the specific need of some form of program regulation now absent in the law. Radio is in county garage to make an inspection of trucks and equipment stored there. Such machinery and equipment plans to sell for junk to get it off the grounds so that they can be cleaned up. Some action probably will be taken on the matter at the committee's next meeting.

COULD NAME SUCCESSOR
Mr. Staidl also told the committee that it was his interpretation of the law that the committee had the power to appoint a successor to A. G. Brusevitz who died recently, without the sanction of the county board. The committee's appointment would hold office until Jan. 7, 1930, at which time his successor, appointed by the county board at its November session, 1929, would take the office.

The district attorney said he had written the attorney general for confirmation of these opinions and that definite word would be had by the end of the week.

Members of the committee, after the business meeting, went to the

DRY RAIDERS KILL WOMAN AT HER HOME

Declare They Thought Illinois Mother Was Reaching for Mate's Gun

Aurora, Ill. — (AP) — A mother was shot and killed Monday night by county dry raiders as she bent over her husband who had been knocked unconscious.

The third member of the family, a boy of 9, then took up the battle with six deputy sheriffs and wounded one in the leg before he could be disarmed.

The deputies said the woman was shot because they thought she was reaching for one of the guns her husband had dropped when he slumped to the floor after being hit with the butt of a deputy's pistol.

The slain woman was Mrs. Lillian Deking, 40. The man clubbed into insensibility as he attempted to keep the officers from entering his home was Joseph Deking, 45. The son who took up the fight when both parents lay on the floor, one of them never to regain consciousness, was Gerald Deking.

Three deputies had tried to raid the house, on the edge of town, earlier in the evening but Deking drove them off with a shotgun. Assistant State Attorney Carlton Shultz said they had a search warrant, sworn out after investigators had bought liquor there.

GOT MORE DEPUTIES
The raiders went back to the sheriff's office, enlisted three more deputies and returned to the Deking home. This time the surrounded the house and stationed men at each door. Again they were met by Deking and this he had two guns.

Deking was knocked down by one of the deputies. As he dropped to the floor, his wife ran to him. From a group of three deputies, standing in the doorway, came a shot and she fell, fatally wounded.

The son then grabbed one of his father's guns and before the deputies could reach him, he had fired at the group in the doorway. Deputy Roy Smith was hit in the leg.

The state's attorney's office refused to name the deputy who shot Mrs. Deking. A complete investigation was promised and a number of neighbors were questioned Monday.

terstate commerce and neither the commission nor any other federal or state agency have specific jurisdiction over program matter, unless they be obscene, indecent or profane. It therefore is up to congress itself to legislate so as to alleviate these evident infractions of federal law, which were enacted before there was any thought of radio as an instrument of interstate commerce.

Recently the commission stumbled by a controversy between the pros and cons of "blue Sunday" as to the type of programs that should be broadcast on Sunday, the commission was forced to notify both parties that it was without authority to intervene in the case because of the clause of the law specifying that "no regulation or condition shall be promulgated or fixed by the licensing authority which interfere with the right of free speech by means of radio communication."

The Local Day Alliance appealed to the commission for censorship of Sunday programs to eliminate the "cheap, loud jazz." As a countermove, the national association opposed to blue laws, Inc., filed with the commission a petition to maintain the status quo. In so far as the commission was concerned the controversy ended there.

SWEET PEA GROWERS MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

Considerable interest has been aroused in the meeting of persons interested in the culture of sweet peas which will be held in the conference rooms of the Appleton Post-Crescent at 7:30 Thursday evening. This is the first group meeting arranged by the Appleton Flower and Garden society. All persons interested in sweet pea growing, whether they are members of the society, have been invited. Herman Holitz, Elsie-at, expert in raising sweet peas, will be in charge of the meeting.

Directors of the Flower and Garden society are to meet, Tuesday evening to arrange for future group meetings to discuss plans for the flower shows to be held in the summer, and fall.

ADELINE SOMMERS IS SPELLING CHAMP

Spells Down Members of Seventh and Eighth Grades at McKinley School

Because she can spell "chauffeur," Miss Adeline Sommers of McKinley junior high school is the champion speller in the seventh and eighth grades at the school. She not only was able to spell "chauffeur," but 75 other difficult words as well, and before she finished she had spelled down the seventh grade team of 15 pupils and four extra pupils who took the stand after the 15 had met their Waterloo.

The contest between the seventh and eighth grade teams was held last week in the eighth grade English room. The five eighth graders who retained their positions the longest were Misses Sommers, Mamie Chall, Lillian Oertel and Helen Deeg and Elmer Davidson. The seventh graders who stood up until the word "chauffeur" upset the works were Misses Verna Pfund, Theresa Roller, Lucille Koehnke and Clara Ryan and Donald Burhans. The eighth grade will challenge the ninth grade to a spellingdown sometime after spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Trickett of Milwaukee are spending several days with friends here.

Misses Irma and Harriet Willow of Kenosha visited with friends in Appleton Monday.

ADELPHIANS CLUB TO SEEK MEMBERS

Hope to Get 15 New Members; Postpone Action of Junior Chamber

No definite action was taken on the organization of a Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the Adelpheans club of the Y. M. C. A. at the association building, Monday evening, but it was decided to increase the membership of the club from 15 to about 30 before further plans were arranged. A concerted drive for new members probably will get underway this week, according to Harold Finger, club president.

Plans for a theatre and bridge party to be given for members and their lady friends Wednesday evening were discussed. The bridge party will be held at a local restaurant, and it is expected 30 will be present.

Plans for a dancing party to be given April 17, probably at the Rauli hotel, Oshkosh, also were discussed, and committees were appointed to make further arrangements. An invitation to attend the Oshkosh Junior Chamber of Commerce "stag" party on April 4 was accepted.

ONLY KELVINATOR Gives this Positive Silence

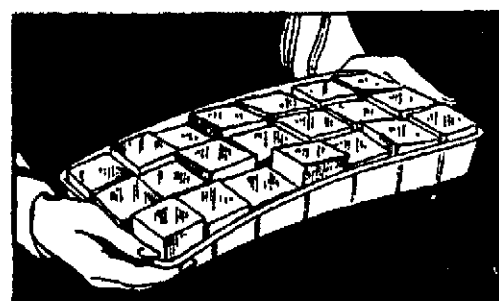

The Century's Greatest Advance In Household Electric Refrigeration

KELVINATORS have always been quiet—as thousands of delighted owners will testify. But here in the 1929 Kelvinator is entire absence of sound—as complete as modern design and super-precision methods can achieve.

Simultaneously, Kelvinator is first to offer, as standard equipment, the new rubber tray for ice cubes, that obsoletes the "water-faucet" method of removing cubes.

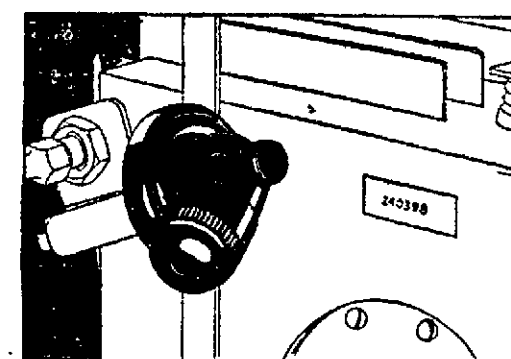

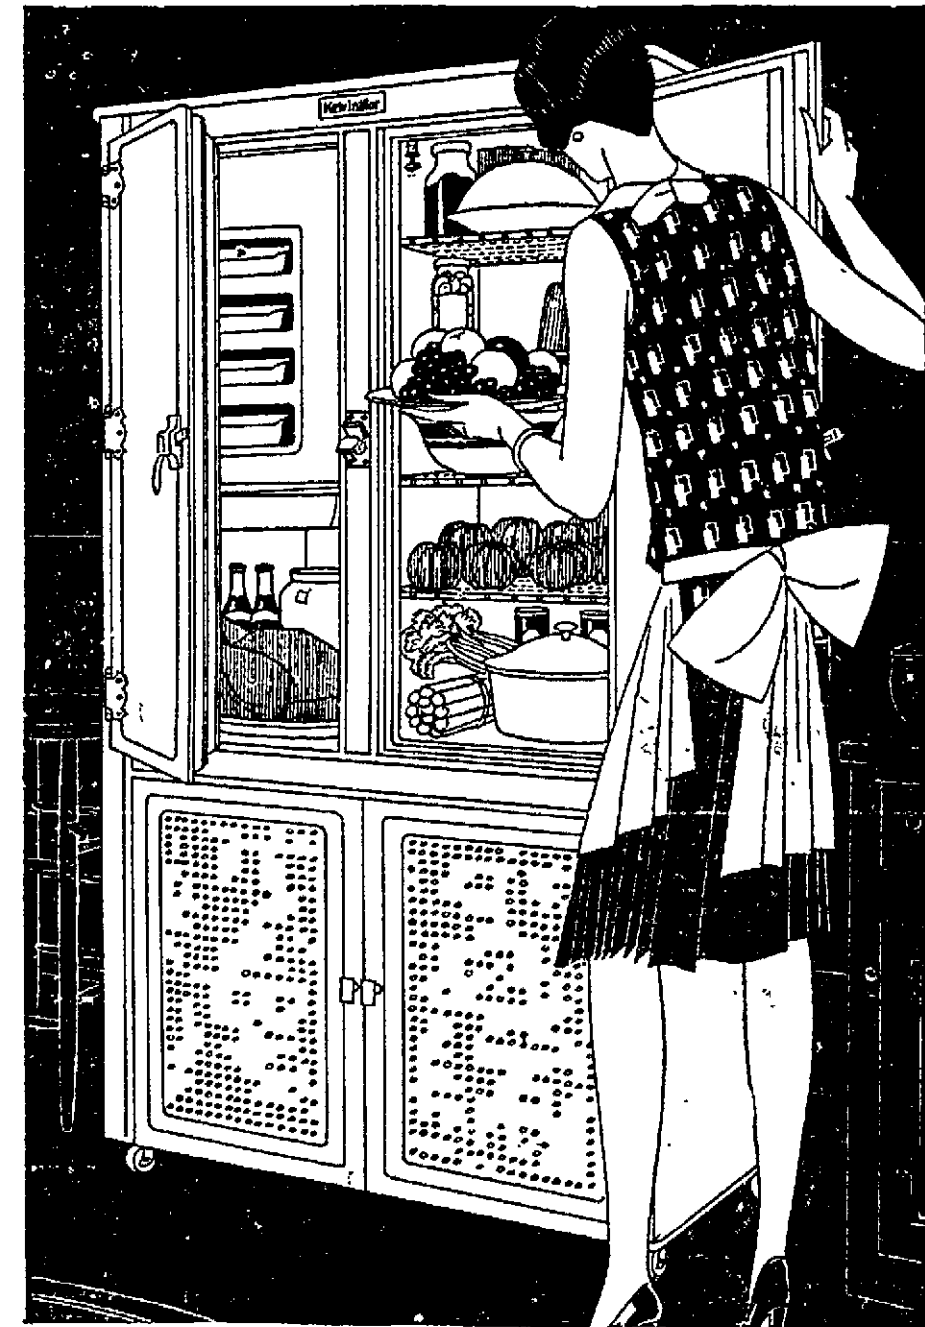

Always reliable, the new Kelvinator is even more economical to operate. It maintains a constant reservoir of cold and its powerful motor starts only one-third as often as the average electric refrigerator.

The new Silent Kelvinators are beautiful, with unusually large shelf area. Cabinets are designed inside and out with utmost artistry—ultra-modern and cleanly staunch. Come in today and view the complete new line, in sizes suitable for every home. Kelvinator prices are remarkably reasonable.

A New Kelvinator Convenience

Made of purest and highest grade rubber, the Kelvinator rubber ice tray flexes easily, releasing the ice cubes in a flash—one, or all of them. No holding of metal trays under water, no wasted ice supply, precious minutes saved daily.

A TEMPERATURE WATCHMAN—This device automatically maintains an even cold temperature in your Kelvinator. Never high enough to permit harmful bacterial growth—never low enough to freeze or spoil your food.

DAINTY FROZEN DISHES—Salads, desserts, jellies for every meal if you wish. Kelvinator's Cold Keeper—a constant reservoir of cold—prepares frozen dishes easily. Ample room to make them and all the ice you need.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST IS LARGER

$45,934 Still Outstanding,
According to F. E. Bachman, City Treasurer

The largest delinquent tax list ever recorded in Appleton was reported this year, according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, who made his return to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, Friday. The delinquent list totaled $45,934.75 this year. Last year it was approximately $30,000.

Mr. Bachman turned over $192,290.12 to the county treasurer, including the school tax, which totaled $29,557.66. The city treasurer withheld $32,319.21 in accordance with instructions from the common council. This is the amount involved in the city's claim against the county in the bank stock tax case.

"Although a record delinquent list was recorded this year, this is not surprising," Mr. Bachman said. "The city's tax roll is increasing annually, and it is only natural that the delinquent list should increase proportionately. Furthermore, one or two business houses which pay a fairly large tax are among the delinquents this time."

SNOW FENCE IS BEING REMOVED FROM ROADS

Three crews of county road workmen started Monday morning to remove snow fences from the highway in the county, according to Frank Appleton, acting highway commissioner. The work is expected to take about a week. The rolled-lath type of fence is being hauled to the county garage for storage and the section-type fence will be piled along the roadside until next winter when it again will be set up. Another crew of workmen was engaged Monday in repairing culverts washouts, while a fleet of trucks was hauling crushed stones to bad sections of unpaved roads so that immediate repairs can be made.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits were issued Saturday by John N. Weiland, building inspector. They were granted to May Donovan, 829 W. Fifth-st., remodel stairways and construct porch, cost $75; Mrs. Alex Meunier, 1111 W. Winnebago-st., garage and basement, $425.

FARMERS SEEK TO SAVE STOCK YARDS

File Petition Protesting Against Abolishment of Premises

A petition with 42 signatures protesting against proposed abolishment of the stock yards of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Co. located between Clark and N. Division-sts., was filed with Carl J. Becker, city clerk, Monday morning. Practically all of the signers are farmers.

The petition, addressed to the mayor and common council, reads: "We, the undersigned, hereby wish to protest against any action which will lead to the abolishment of the stock yards located along the C. and N. W. Ry. Co.'s right-of-way and between Clark and N. Division-sts., as the undersigned wish to have the said stock yards retained. It is also the wish of the undersigned that the city of Appleton cooperate in bringing about some action which will lead to having the C. and N. W. Ry. Co. construct a sanitary stock yard at said location."

A building permit authorizing remodeling of the yards recently was refused by the building inspector. Since that time a petition was circulated among adjoining property holders urging that the yards be abolished.

The petition will be presented at the next council meeting.

FIVE REFERENDUMS PUT BEFORE VOTERS

County Snow Removal Question to Be Balloted on April 2

Five referendums will be voted on by Outagamie-co voters at the spring election on April 2. Four of the referendums are on state matters and one is on county snow removal.

The first state referendum seeks the voters' opinion as to whether the legislature should be allowed to set its own salary; the second whether the voters approve having sheriffs hold office for more than one term; the third whether the state prohibition enforcement act should be repealed; the fourth whether the state prohibition act itself should be repealed.

Following are the five referendums as they appear on the ballots:

Shall Section 21 of Article IV of the constitution relating to the salary of members of the legislature be repealed?

Shall amendment to Section 4 of Article VI, of the constitution, authorizing sheriffs to hold office for more than two terms, or parts thereof, in succession, be adopted?

Shall the state prohibition enforcement act, generally known as the Severson act, be repealed?

Shall the state prohibition enforcement act, generally known as the Severson act, be amended so that the state shall not arrest or fine anyone for the manufacture, sale or possession of beer of not more than 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight?

Shall the county continue to remove snow from federal, state and county trunk highways?

SOTHERN TO OFFER THREE-PLAY SURVEY

Eminent Shakespearean Actor Will Appear in Appleton April 8

In one evening, E. H. Sothern, the eminent Shakespearean actor, will give play-goers a survey of three plays which have made history in the theatre, plays distinctive in manner and mood, when he appears in recital in Lawrence Memorial chapel on April 8.

A writer in the London Chronicle once said "We are Hamlets all" and thus explained why Hamlet of all Shakespearean characters has the greatest appeal. Perhaps this is why, to actors, most famous in the role and every generation has had at least one Hamlet who has been hailed as superlative. E. H. Sothern, of the royal line of Hamlets, first played the part of the Dane in 1900 in New York. It is fitting that Sothern's program on the recital stage should include two scenes from this tragedy.

Sothern always intended to add "Othello" to the Sothern-Marlowe repertoire, but it was never done. However, he prepared the role for acting and for the first time the public will see his conception of this tragedy for he will give here the scene between Iago and Othello.

Schlitz Bros. Drug Store to Introduce Advanced Remedy; Larger Cities Have It

If you were told that one single medicine put thousands of men and women back to work in Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities after they had been idle for months with health troubles, it would sound impossible, wouldn't it? And that countless people were so entirely relieved of rheumatism and neuritis that they walked normally again, without canes or crutches, and that this same medicine restored health to men and women who suffered stomach and kidney troubles for years, and complete relief had come in cases of misery where health resorts, expensive treatments and medicine had failed—indeed, it seems impossible. Yet it is all true, and a man is coming to Appleton on Thursday to prove that these things are true and can be accomplished right here in this city.

THE KONJOLA MAN

The medicine referred to is the new Konjola, and the Konjola Man himself will be at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, 114 West College Ave., this city, starting Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. He will talk to everyone personally and explain this celebrated compound. He will also pass out literature regarding Konjola and give away free samples of this surprising medical preparation.

When introduced, this Konjola has proven vastly more effective in thousands of cases of ill-health than any previously known medicine. It is a remarkable liquid compound for the following well-known troubles:

RHEUMATISM: Especially severe cases, where pains are intense, muscles swollen, joints stiff and rigid. In milder cases of this disease Konjola relieves the suffering almost at once, and this medicine brings the same results to people who suffer from neuritis.

STOMACH, LIVER, KIDNEY and BOWEL troubles: Nearly all forms of misery that arise from these unhealthy organs have been so quickly relieved by Konjola that men and women sufferers were surprised everywhere. It is the action of this medicine on these organs of the inner system that removes toxic poisons from the body and brings quick relief in so many cases. The secret of this Konjola is the way it acts upon the important functional organs of the body, namely the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. So many diseases and long standing disorders of these organs were so quickly conquered and entirely ended by this new compound that thousands of people were able to give up the taking of all medicine entirely.

After the great accomplishments and wonderful work of Konjola in other cities, it is declared that this medicine is what thousands of sufferers in Appleton and vicinity have long needed to actually reach their cases, and preparations are being made for the care of large crowds at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, 114 West College Ave., this city.

As stated before, the Konjola Man will be here at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, 114 West College Ave., Appleton, starting Thursday, March 28th, at 9 o'clock sharp, and will talk to the public and introduce and explain Konjola. Free samples given.

33 Live Daily Newspapers in 33 Key Cities

That's the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League. Its 33 members are some of the most progressive daily news publications in the state, in fact in the Northwest.

These papers are up to the minute in their service. World news—domestic news—local news—all the very latest and presented in a clear concise form. They are powers in their communities. They are responsible for many civic improvements, taking an interest in anything for the betterment of their community. They are live, energetic, truth telling papers, the voice of the people.

It's only natural such papers should be the favorite with their readers. They go into 7 out of every 10 homes in their localities. They carry your advertising message right to the very best of families where the readers have "the power to buy".

The League offers a splendid opportunity to those wishing to sell in the great Wisconsin Market. Ask an executive of this paper or H. L. Davis, Secretary at Appleton about their unusual advertising plans.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

The sinking of the British schooner Imalone, an alleged rumrunner, by coastguard craft off Louisiana makes a good story for sensational news writers to exploit as a possible source of trouble between Great Britain and the United States. Because the British ambassador called at the state department to inquire about the incident some of the correspondents vision a conflict of the two governments. Of course nothing of the kind will occur, or is even possible. If the boat was sunk outside the twelve-mile limit or if there is anything about the case which is in violation of international law, the United States will promptly apologize and give whatever satisfaction the facts may call for. There is nothing serious and no possibility of serious consequences.

Public opinion throughout the United States will approve the act of the coast guard vessel. The schooner Imalone had a notorious reputation as a rumrunner, and was also suspected of smuggling aliens into this country. She was given due notice that she would be sunk unless she stood by and consented to search, which our coastguard had a perfect right to make provided she was in American jurisdiction. This the Imalone refused to do and was accordingly sunk. Her attempt to escape was pretty conclusive evidence of guilt. We are bothered a great deal by these rumrunners and smugglers, and it is right that the government protect itself against them. Public opinion will support all aggressive measures in this direction; in fact, it would like to see them more aggressive.

Whatever international questions are involved in the incident will be amicably disposed of by the state department and the foreign office at London. Any thought of friction between the two countries is absurd.

OPPORTUNITY FOR MUSICIANS

American music as an industry is looking up. It has better support than ever before. And the chief cause is radio. Last year, it is estimated, there was $30,000,000 spent in this country on music, of which $11,000,000 was contributed directly by broadcasting companies. Broadcasting now provides a market for music as great as the concert hall or operatic stage. It will soon be the biggest factor of all.

So much for the business end of it. Artistically, radio has probably done still more for music, in spite of its devotion to jazz and cheap sentimental songs. Millions are learning what good music is, and learning to prefer it. The great musicians of all ages have an infinitely larger audience and more appreciation than ever before. There is infinitely more opportunity for new musicians of talent.

CUSTARD PIE KING

The phrase "Crowned by a custard pie" at once brings to the average American mind thoughts of slapstick movie comedies. As a matter of fact, the phrase may be quite truthfully applied to an American marine corps aviator who was king of a tiny West Indies island for a little while.

The aviator had been flying in that region when he had to make a forced landing on an unimportant and little-known island near Haiti. He arranged a message pick-up outfit and got himself located by other marine planes. Then he requested food, repair parts and blankets. His fellow-marines flew over his island and dropped these supplies down to him.

It may be easily imagined that these donations from overhead impressed the native population. They decided that this white man was well taken care of by his gods. When a custard pie arrived from the air, they promptly crowned him king so that they might share in his blessings.

The story ends quite unromantically—a boat called for him and took him away—but it is rich in humorous and thrilling material for a gay piece of fiction.

LIEUTENANT HANNEKEN'S DEED

Lieutenant Herman Hanneken, of the U. S. marine corps, seems to be one of those soldiers who could have stalked straight across the pages of a story by Rudyard Kipling.

Those familiar with Kipling's stories of Ortheris, Mulvaney and Learoyd, the British army privates in India, will recall the taking of Lungtunpen; the story of how a battalion of infantry, cut off from a town that was to be stormed by a deep and turbulent river, removed every article of clothing, swam across and swarmed through the streets stark naked, effecting a capture before the surprised natives had time to figure out what was happening.

Lieutenant Hanneken figured in just such an incident when he captured Manuel Jiron, Sandino's right bower, in Nicaragua the other day. Hanneken and his men were swimming, au naturel, in a jungle stream when Jiron came upon the scene. The doughty lieutenant, not pausing to dress, promptly came out and informed the surprised rebel that he was under arrest.

Just one more indication, perhaps, that it's not the uniform that counts so much as the man inside of it.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWNS

It isn't hard work that brings nervous breakdowns, says a philosophy professor. It is mental conflict. Almost anybody can "work his head off" in business, study or anything else, and get away with it, if he is single-minded. Hard work is pleasant, even healthful, when one is interested and happy about it. But one is happy about it only when there is nothing else in one's system to interfere—no conflicting purpose, no interfering program, no troublesome fear or hate or other distracting emotion.

Conflict makes stormy weather in the mind, as it does in the outer atmosphere. Brain storms are the things to be guarded against. Unity in one's life is the main thing. How to attain this is another story. But health helps. Normal living helps. Philosophy helps. Religion helps.

THE DEFEAT OF TUBERCULOSIS

The time has arrived, writes Dr. Louis I. Dublin in the April Harper's Magazine, when we may look forward to the virtual elimination of tuberculosis as a major problem in public health.

Dr. Dublin quotes figures to support his view. In 1900 the death rate from tuberculosis in the registration states of America was 195 per 100,000 of population. By 1910 it had dropped to 164, and by 1926 it was down to 84.

More striking yet, he points out, the rate is diminishing at an ever faster rate. The dreaded "white plague" is slowly being brought under control, and that fact represents one of the major accomplishments of the twentieth century.

THE OLD STRAIN REMAINS

Never say that the hard-handed, rough-and-tumble breed of the early frontier is entirely gone from modern America. It still survives.

In Hamburg, Tenn., two men got into a quarrel in a poker game the other day. They shot it out after the manner of the old frontier; each clasped the other's left hand, drew his revolver with his right, and blazed away as long as he could hold his weapon.

One man was dead by the time bystanders got to the scene—dead with five bullets in his body. The other died 30 minutes later, equally riddled.

A wild, lawless pair, surely! But why is it that that story sends a little, irrepressible thrill of something like admiration down our spines?

The largest star diameter measured recently is that of Mira in the constellation of Cetus. Its diameter is nearly as great as the orbit of Mars, and it would take 27,000,000 of our suns to fill it.

A new laboratory of Berlin, Germany, is equipped to produce temperatures as low as 452 degrees below zero, or about 8 points from absolute zero.

The Bachelor's Button, domestic flower, is a native of India. It was introduced into England as early as 1711.

The area of Alaska is nearly equal to that of Texas, California, Montana, Maryland, and Delaware combined.

A five-mile stretch of Colorado road is paved with rock from mine ore dumps. Gold in this rock is said to be valued at $20,000.

Papa (in next room): "What is it?"

She: "What time is it?"

"Did you hear about the raid at Smith's house party last night?"

"No. Was any whisky found?"

"Not a drop—the officers forgot to bring a stomach pump."

COVERING THE CASE

A bookseller sent a bill to a certain customer for a book. The customer replied: "I did not order the book. If I did, you didn't send it. If you sent it, I didn't receive it. If I did, I paid for it. If I didn't, I won't."

Porter: "Where's your trunk, sir?"

Salesman: "I use no trunks."

Porter: "But Ah, tho' you was one of those travellin' salesmen."

Salesman: "I am, but I sell brains, understand? I sell brains."

Porter: "Excuse me, boss, but youse the fust travellin' fella that's been here who ain't carryin' no samples."

DISINFECTION IN THE HOME

The untutored mayor of a corruptly governed city where the citizens are too timid to protest against exploitation of public office by the politicians or to take steps to punish the grafters, recently visited a minor courtroom where many of the riff-raff and rascals are herded for trial. The mayor detected a foul odor, and made himself and his community ridiculous by announcing that he was going to order the health department to fumigate the courtroom immediately.

In this same timid town there is an ordinance prohibiting the sale of bedding at second hand—the implication being that there is some risk of spread of disease by bedding that has been used. The same risk holds, of course, for second hand automobile upholstery, but the Timid Town has no ordinance prohibiting the sale of second hand cars, furniture, rugs or even personal clothing. In Timid Town, you see, the automobile furniture, rug and clothing dealers do not mind much whether second hand stuff is sold or not; the mattress people, on the other hand, do object to this competition. In Timid Town mattress makers know how to make the politicians behave.

For something like eighteen or twenty years the health officer of Timid Town (there have been two or three of him in that time I think) has been appealing annually to the town council for an ordinance to prohibit the sale of pileless gas stoves, because in Timid Town there is an annual death rate from accidental poisoning of people by such dangerous heaters. For eighteen or twenty years the honorable council of Timid Town has respectfully received the health officer's appeal and referred the matter to some committee that takes care of such embarrassments. Meanwhile the population of Timid Town suffers a loss of a dozen or two more or less worthless lives each year, and the pileless gas stove business thrives lustily. It seems the pileless gas stove makers and merchants know how to make the politicians behave in Timid Town. What are a dozen or more lives to good businessmen?

Schoolrooms in Timid Town, and even the public library, have been "fumigated" from time to time, because every few years there was an epidemic or a scare on. When you wish to see intelligence, health intelligence, at its lowest level, visit the public schools or the public library of Timid Town.

The mayor of Timid Town was not so extraordinarily silly in his belief that the unpleasant odor he detected in the courtroom called for fumigation by the health department. Doubtless thousands of other citizens of the town who smugly think themselves on a higher plane of intelligence than the mayor, believe in such rites, too. In fact it is only a year or two since the health department of Timid Town has ceased the practice of terminal fumigation, and I am not sure that the health authorities do not still raise a bit of smoke or a powerful stench on the premises after certain infectious disease even today.

The irony of this, if any, is that all these funny ideas and practices in Timid Town are due, not so much to ignorance of the people as to the workings of political graft.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
On Osteopathy We're Oagin
What do you think of an osteopath on backache and hemorrhoids? Do you think I would be safe in trying them for such trouble? I have tried others too.—(H. C. F.)

ANS.—This is an embarrassing query, for only the other day I received a great shower of letters from osteopaths who thanked me for my fairness and broadmindedness toward their cult. I must tell you, friend, that if I were in your place I should certainly not trifle with any kind of healer who purports to follow any kind of pathy. But if you are determined to fool with this and that brand of healing, there are plenty bidding for patronage that are far inferior to the osteopaths in every respect.

No Nonsense in This Column
Will feeding whole wheat bread to children prevent them from getting appendicitis?—(Mrs. D. H. W.)

ANS.—From the fact that you capitalize whole wheat I surmise that you've been reading somebody's hokum. The notion that whole wheat will prevent appendicitis is mere nonsense.

Good Food
Is it injurious to one's health to eat half a pound of whole wheat bread a day? Also is there such a thing as eating too much lettuce? I eat lettuce without any dressing at all hours of the day.—(Mrs. A. W.)

ANS.—No, to both questions. Half a pound of bread, whether plain bread or whole wheat bread, contains the same amount of nutriment as a pound of lean beef. Whole wheat bread contains a little more vitamin and mineral matter than white bread, but unless the diet is restricted to bread alone this doesn't matter, for you get the vitamins and minerals in lettuce or other fruits or vegetables in your diet.

Cauliflower
Has cauliflower any real food value?—(C. J. B.)

ANS.—The same nutritive value as cabbage, not over 15 calories in a pound. Both cauliflower and cabbage are valuable items in the diet because of the natural roughage they furnish, their vitamins and their mineral elements, mainly calcium, phosphorus and sulphur. For my part, however, I select these delicacies, when I have the opportunity, just because they're darn good eating.

The Arcadians Almost Extinct
I had your formula put up and can truthfully say I have benefited wonderfully. Do you smoke? Cigars or pipe?—(E. A. L.)

ANS.—I was once an Arcadian but never got the inspiration to take up Barrie's challenge. Walnut clicks it, I think.

NOT A LAME DUCK
Editor Post-Crescent—I notice in the peoples forum of the Appleton Post-Crescent, March 23, a cowardly article up, somewhat directed toward me, as I have been a defeated member of the highway committee and also had made application for the position of highway commissioner. Now, if it is me you have reference to, ranging around the highway office, I can tell you, I haven't put in two minutes of my time in the highway office, for the past two years and as to my being defeated on that committee, I'll defy you or any one else in Outagamie County to say that my defeat came through dishonesty. You or any one, are well come to go to the court house and look up the records of myself and the rest of the committee and see if they took any thing, they were not entitled to.

Now, Mr. Appleton, I'll call on your city council to decide, if I as a member of the highway committee and the rest of the members of the committee, at that time, if I didn't deal square with the City of Appleton. This same question may be applied to all other cities, villages and towns. As to taking and engineering to handle this job, no doubt an engineer can handle it well, but I'll take you, if I can find you, to roads that were not constructed by an engineer, that are just as good and if not better, than some that were engineered. Now, just because a man is a farmer, that is no reason, why he is not honest, or fit to fulfill this position.

This county has an engineer elected to do engineering, if necessary. Other counties don't doubt the ability of men that are not engineers for the office of commissioner.

If it is me you have reference to as the lame duck, you never found me a very lame duck, when it comes to facing the public. If you have anything on me, come out with it now. I am a candidate for commissioner and also a farmer.

Now, I don't think that you are in doubt that a farmer can handle this job. You are only afraid some one might get the job that you can't handle. There are a few of these kind of fellows left yet, that you can't handle and I'm one of them. If you have any grievances against any one, or any of the county board, go to them like a man and tell them. If you have any thing to say to me, say it, or put it in the paper, and sign your own name to it, like I will to this. If you are not man enough to sign your name, you are a coward. I'm not going to pay some tool to put his name to this. Never the less, I think I know who is behind your item of March 23, and the other lame duck item.

If your looking out for the welfare of the taxpayers, as you pretend to be, please let us know who you are.

Respectfully,

WM. ROHAN.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—The "cross-roads of the world" drift abruptly from a glittering show window to the squalid, hidden cloisters of beaten men and women.

The transitions come with the swiftness of death.

At one moment, standing at the intersection of the huge X which forms at Times Square, it is possible to look upon the world's most extravagant display of amusement wares. At another, it is possible to plunge into the half-light of battered tenements and rooming houses, less prepossessing than hovels.

It is like an ice cold shower in the morning.

And plunging into depressive atmosphere that lies west of Broadway, one would imagine that those who had once bathed in the warmth and glamour of the myriad lights would carve to drift to some haven of forgetfulness, when their particular day was done.

But such is the queer twist in humans that the reverse is the case. All along the mid-Forties, where a sudden blackness descends, live hundreds that Broadway has cast off and life has forgotten.

Here can be found beauties whose fingers once dripped diamonds, actors grown old and undesired; musicians, prize-fighters, jockeys, gamblers, showmen—a strange world of has-beens.

And out of this belt come many of the tales—yes, most of the tales which we call "drab."

I heard such a tale the other day; a tale typical of what I mean.

It concerned a slugs beauty of a few years back. So lovely she was that dozens of rich Johnnies sought her.

She was pampered, spoiled and feted. Gifts

COUNTRY AWAITS COURT'S VIEW ON GOLD FROM RUSSIA

Stand on Soviet Sovereignty Holds Interest of American Citizens

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1929 by the Consolidated Press Association

New York—As the curious Russian good mix-up brings soviet recognition by an American federal court, A. L. Sheehan, director of the Moscow state bank, sails for Europe, after a conference with Gov. Young of the Federal Reserve Bank, in Washington.

A. Fineberg is established permanently as the New York representative of the Moscow state bank and the Amtorg Trading Corporation is stirring with new activities and a wider outlook.

Prevailing opinion here is that there is no ground to assume that the court decision may further government recognition of the soviets, but certain financial interests are alert to the possibility that free movement of Russian gold may enable America to seize world leadership in Russian finance, a position previously held by France.

The $5,000,000 worth of Mavrick gold, which raised the perplexing question of the attitude of an American court toward a government which the state department says doesn't exist, arrived a year ago, consigned to the Chase National Bank and the Equitable Trust company, agents for the state bank of Moscow. In their routine procedure, the banks sent the gold to the United States assay office, to be assayed.

The treasury department, acting under a ruling of 1927 found that the soviet gold could not be assayed, as this would imply a recognition of the soviet republic.

FRENCH BANK SUES.
In the meantime, the bank of France sued the two New York banks for possession of the gold on the ground that, before the Russian revolution, had bought $10,000,000 worth of gold and left it in the state bank of the Russian empire. It was contended that the gold at issue was part of this deposit.

Judge Goddard's decision settled the opening engagement of the suit. Denying motions by the bank of France to strike out the defenses of the New York banks, he opened the way for the introduction of the soviet evidence, which otherwise would have been excluded. In defining the status of the soviet government in the suit, Judge Goddard said:

"That there is an existing government in Russia, sovereign within its own territory, can not be and is not entirely ignored, even by our own country, although it has not recognized such government. For instance, in proceeding to naturalize Russian citizens, the executive and judicial branches of our government acknowledge the existence of the present government of Russia, to the extent of requiring such applicants to forewear allegiance to the present government of Russia."

A marriage which is valid under the laws of the present government of Russia is quite universally regarded as valid in this country.

"Justice requires that effect should be given by courts, even though we do not recognize the Russian government, to those acts in Russia upon which the rights of our citizens depend, provide that in so doing our judicial department does not encroach upon or interfere with the political branch of our government."

Simpson, Thatcher and Bartlett, attorneys for the New York banks, regard the decision as opening the way for the complete presentation of the case and confidently expect victory in the final issue. Telegrams to dispatches report Moscow keenly interested in the outcome, as vast trading schemes, involving Russian and American financial and industrial interests, hang on the outcome. It is pointed out that the shipment of gold is the one practicable means of redressing the Russian trade balance, for which the $5,000,000 was originally sent to the country.

It is further noted, by the partisans of the defendant banks, that the federal reserve has put itself on record as favoring the free movement of gold. These, naturally interested, observers point to the anomaly in excluding the output of one of the leading gold producing countries of the world when accepted financial policies demand free access for gold.

Both the state department and the department of commerce, while holding out no hope or recognition of Russia, have said they would place no obstacles in the way of Russian trade. Two years ago, at a luncheon at the bankers club in New York, a large group of bankers and industrialists conferred with Russian trading representatives, with a view of increased trade intercourse and there is, in the New York financial line-up, a sizeable faction seeking removal of all trade restraints and restrictions between the two countries.

The latest and final decision as to soviet's title to gold will be an important and possibly epochal decision, as defining the stand of the American judiciary on soviet sovereignty—at least so far as it involves transactions with American citizens.

Indian Princess Attended Business College Here

Alice Oshkosh, the young Indian maiden who became Princess of 2,000 Menominee Indians, attended Actual Business College in this city until two weeks prior to her father's death.

Although "Kenoka" (a Little Bear) as she is known to her tribe, makes friends easily, few Appleton people knew that an Indian princess was living at the Jerome Uttenbroek home at 1203 N. Durkeest. Her coming to Appleton was perhaps the result of her great friendship for Miss Mildred Uttenbroek, who was her roommate at St. Joseph academy, Green Bay, for three of the four years she attended that school. After their graduation from St. Joseph academy they decided to complete their business training in Appleton, and after spending the three months from June to September with her people at Keshena, the young Indian princess came to Appleton to take up an advanced business course.

Intimate sidelights on the young Indian leader were gained in an interview with Miss Uttenbroek. To the girl who was her classmate for three years, Princess Alice is just a regular American girl. She likes to dance, is a "cut-up" with a delightful sense of humor, and is extremely athletic. She plays tennis, basketball and volleyball equally well, but strange to say, does not swim. As a heritage from her people, she loves the woods and animals, and her dog Kief, a pony with an Indian name meaning Whirlwind, and two cats called Felix and Bobby mean a great deal to her.

WRITES AND SINGS
She writes poetry, and has a lovely contralto voice, at its best when she sings Indian songs. She revels in recounting old Indian tales, and often, giving Indian programs in costume, singing the songs of her tribe and telling stories handed down to her by her father, Chief Ernest Oshkosh, and her grandfather, Neopit Oshkosh. Sometimes her programs include Indian legends which are a combination of her romantic imagination and the tales her parents have told her. Appearing before audiences frightens her not at all, and she excels in debate work.

As a rule, she is a lively twentieth century school girl, but when occasion demands her staidness and dignity reminds one that she is the great grand daughter of Chief Oshkosh and that her mother, who is part English, is the granddaughter of Little Wolf, the famous leader's war chief. However, the fact that some day she might become a tribal ruler never colored her attitude toward her schoolmates, and she gave and accepted friendship as any other purebred American girl.

Princess Alice, who recently took a Civil Service examination in the hopes that she might enter the Indian service of the government, as her father and mother had before her, now plans to enter the law school at Marquette University as soon as it is possible for her to leave her mother.

WORKING FOR PEOPLE
"My people need me, and I shall make their welfare my career," she said. "With father's death, there is no one to counsel the old folks who do not understand English, and I feel it my duty to fit myself to help and advise them. It was father's wish that I study law, so that I can take part in the councils which decide vitally important problems from time to time. Unfair advantages are often taken of my tribe, and if I know what the tribe's rights are, I believe I can do much to protect them. The advice of an Oshkosh has always been respected."

"At present, we have no authoritative voice in the management of our affairs. The big sawmill at Neopit is operating at a loss. An Indian cannot sell a load of wood from his farm without permission from the superintendent. I plan on working for equality with our white neighbors. I believe that our land should be allotted to us so that each of us will own the farm that he and his ancestors have cleared, and I feel that the tribal funds in Washington should be distributed among us."

The chieftanship of her tribe comes to Princess Alice through the wish of her grandfather, Neopit Oshkosh, who expressed his desire to her father, Ernest saying that she was the only one of the family in whom he would have confidence in case of her father's death. It is a tribal custom that the chief can choose the member of his family upon which the leadership is to descend.

It has ever before happened that the chief died leaving no male heirs so that the Menominees never have been governed by a princess, and it's only through modern influences that a woman is permitted to serve as head of the tribe. The documents and emblems pertaining to the princess' office were all destroyed by fire a few years ago with the exception of one document which is in custody of the museum of the city of Oshkosh.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moder spent the weekend with relatives at Sheboygan Falls.

MENTION FOWLER AS SUCCESSOR TO VINJE ON BENCH

State Speculates Over Possible Appointment to Supreme Court

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin having paid its last respects to A. J. Vinje, chief justice of the supreme court here Tuesday, the administrative department of state was forced to turn its attention to filling the seventh chair behind the great mahogany bench.

The center chair in which the featured, white haired Vinje sat will be taken by Marvin B. Rosenberry, acting Chief Justice during Judge Vinje's illness, but one of three chairs on each side of it will be empty until Governor Kohler names a judge or lawyer from some Wisconsin town or city.

Gov. Kohler may appoint a circuit judge, to the post under the law. Should he do this, he would thereby vacate one of the circuit benches so that another appointment would have to be made to fill the unexpired term of that judge. Ouster proceedings asked by the Progressive against the governor might be heard, if filed in the fourth circuit court of Edward Voigt, of Sheboygan. Judge Voigt has been identified as a Progressive.

Those in Madison who have followed the supreme court appointments has said there has been no one named to the high bench in several decades from the Fox River Valley, and point to Judge Chester A. Fowler of the eighteenth circuit, Fond du Lac.

The Marathon county bar has started a movement in Wausau for a petition to Gov. Kohler asking appointment of Judge Alexander H. Reid of the sixteenth judicial court.

The firm of Olin, Butler and Stroud, Madison counselors has furnished the executive counsel for the last and present administrations and Harry L. Butler, veteran barrister, has been "mentioned."

Should the executive, whose feeling in the whole matter has not been expressed, wish to stay with the state's attorney force in making his appointment he would probably look toward Hugh L. Minahan, deputy attorney general, Justice Vinje was critically ill during the administration of Gov. Zimmerman, and while propriety prevented Gov. Zimmerman from discussing the matter those close to him believe Minahan and Joshua L. Johns, prominent Appleton attorney, and then the governor's secretary might be considered if the election arose.

Judge Ellisworth B. Belden, of the first judicial circuit, might be eliminated from any consideration Gov. Kohler might make of him as a prospective appointee to the high bench because of recent efforts in the legislature to question grand jury action in his circuit some time ago.

BRETTSCHEIDERS BASK IN FLORIDA SUNSHINE

While Appleton was enjoying its first breath of spring the first of last week, Mr. and Mrs. David Brett Schneider of this city were basking in the warm sunlight and balmy winds of Florida, where the temperature was 32 degrees, according to a letter by the Appleton Post-Crescent from Mr. Brett Schneider.

The day the Brett Schneiders arrived in St. Petersburg their registrations at the Chamber of Commerce helped swell the list of registrants for the season to 29,251. On the day they arrived 242 tourists had signed the books, which was more than double the number on the same day of the previous year.

In his letter Mr. Brett Schneider state Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Jensen and Wm. Wheeler of Appleton and Mr. and Mrs. C. Walters of Menasha had been driving them to the beautiful and interesting places in Florida. He spoke particularly of Snell Isle, "which," he said, "is what Appleton people would call a dream that never comes true."

The executive would not thus lend his opinion as to the charges but intended to regard public sentiment as against such an appointment at this time.

Within the memory of Gilson Glaser, head of the state law library and an officer of the state bar association, that body has not suggested formally names to the governor for appointment to the supreme court. At present, however, the association as a "judicial elections committee," intended to inquire into capabilities of judicial candidates and possibly make recommendations. This committee has been organized but a year and a half and its principal work has been to solicit the cooperation of a local law association in such matters. Whether it will participate in the recommendations that will be made to the executive will probably be decided in part by its chairman, George Williams of Oshkosh.

RECENT PROFITS ON MARKET WILL VANISH THIS WEEK

Last Week's Increase of $165,000,000 Expected to Be Cancelled

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1929

Wall Street, New York—As the stock market has already had an average decline of between seven and eight points since the last statement of brokers loans was prepared, it is reasonable to expect that last week's increase of $165,000,000 which raised the total to a new high record of $1,100,000,000, will be cancelled this week.

One of the factors believed to be responsible for the rising trend recently in brokers loans is that of the transfer of stocks from strong interests to the public. This has required additional accommodations from either banks or corporations and has had a tendency to expanding loan figures. Of even greater importance, however, is the bullish attitude which this movement discloses on the part of some of the big banking groups as well as private individuals who have been carrying stocks and also that of investment trusts and professional operators.

Out of this has developed the present weak technical condition which reflects in the difficulty of disposing of any large block of stock without breaking its price. A glance over the stock list will readily indicate the extent to which liquidation and distributing of stocks has gone in places that have been conspicuous as leaders in the market for the last few months. Most of them today were even lower than at the end of last week. There were signs of distress in some of the popular pools.

MANVILLE OFF 65
The largest decline among stocks that were believed to have been bid up beyond their actual value is that in Johns-Manville which today was off 65 points from the high of the year. Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck were down an average from their best of 25 points. Several of the independent radio stocks showed declines of 20 points and Radio Corporation new stock was even more at a discount from its high level with the pool in it fighting hard to hold it up against heavy outside liquidation.

Among industrial specialties there were such declines from the 1929 peak as 25 points in International Corporation, 17 in Gold Dust, 20 in Curtiss Aeroplane, 10 in Ebers Pipe and 20 in Case Threshing Machine.

The federal reserve board and the banks that have followed its warnings can point to these changes and to the liquidation that has come from strong interests as a recognition of the inevitable effect on an overextended stock market of steady pressure against it not only of public opinion but of money rates so high that they eventually absorb all but the largest profits made on margin account. It will cost the average speculator nearly 10 per cent to carry his stocks this month. In addition those that he bought on the February rise have already absorbed from one-third to one-half of his capital.

Mrs. G. L. Chamberlain spent several days of last week in Milwaukee.

BREAKFAST
MEAL OF DAYBY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

There is no meal of the day more important than the first one. This meal actually and literally breaks our fast. During the night the stomach has had a chance to rest from its labors and in the morning should be ready for food. However, if the evening meal has been late and the heartiest meal of the day the stomach is apt to rebel at the thought of food early in the morning. Children who have had a light supper of nourishing, easily digested food need a good breakfast. This same good breakfast is essential for the man and woman who are engaged in physical labor. The woman who is planning to do the "family wash" will need a heartier breakfast than her husband who will work at his desk all day. And the woman who expects to spend her morning on the golf course should eat a heartier meal than the one who will sit at a desk all morning.

The adult must choose his breakfast in accordance with his needs, but he should keep in mind the necessity of a balanced meal no matter how light it may be.

The child's breakfast should furnish every essential for proper nourishment. His stomach has been without food for the longest period during the twenty-four hours and is

GRAHAM MUFFINS

One cup graham flour, 1 cup white flour, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted butter or shortening.

Mix and sift white flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add graham flour and mix thoroughly. Beat egg until light, add milk and melted fat. Add to dry mixture and stir vigorously until blended. Turn into oiled muffin tins and bake in a hot oven for twenty-five minutes.

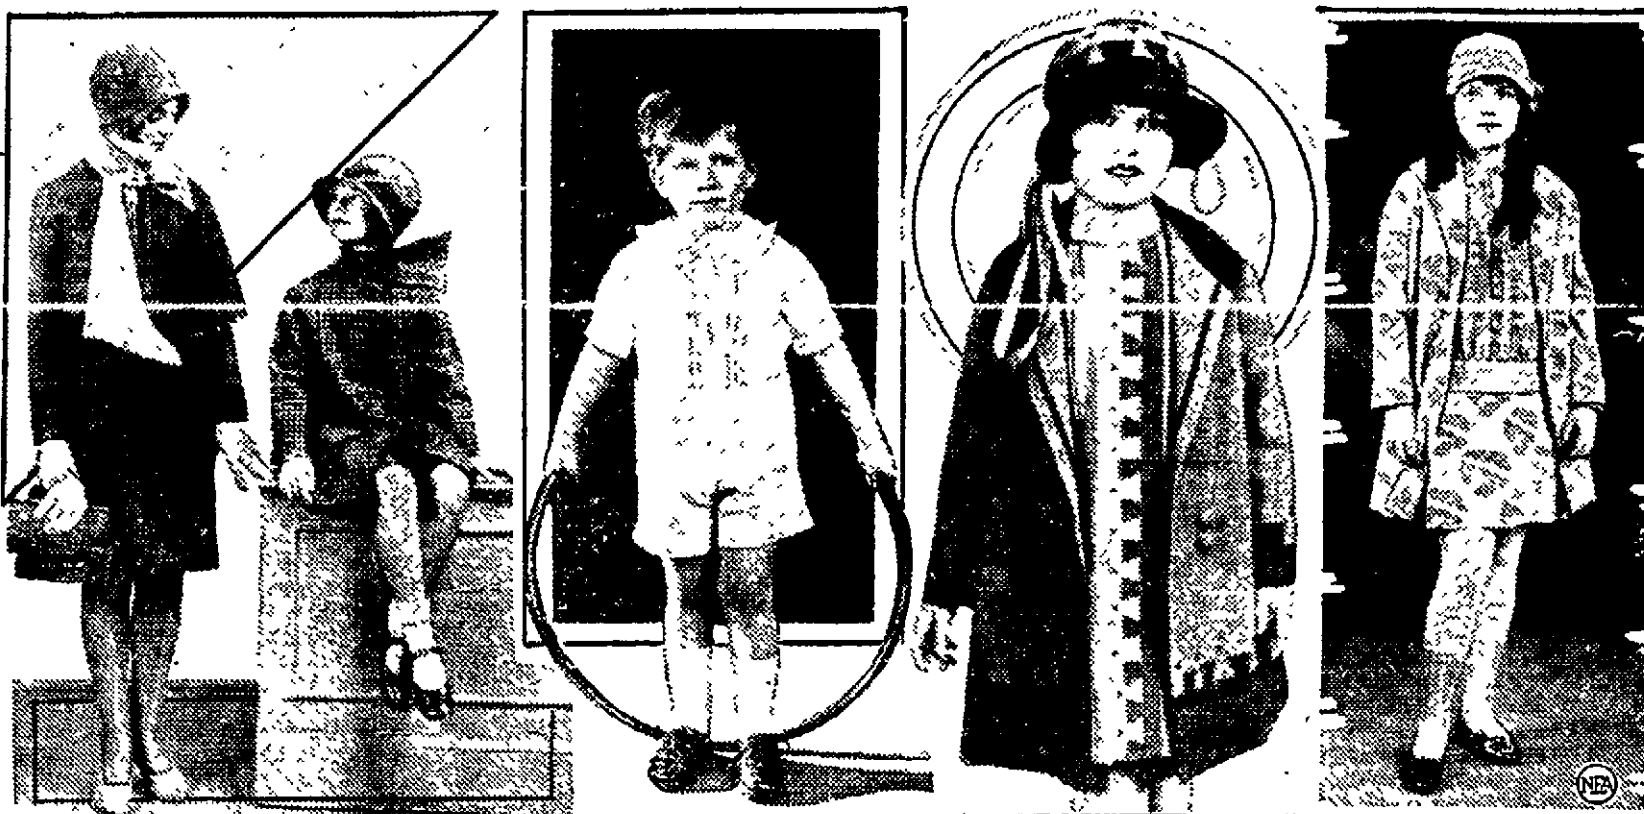

ready for a meal which will supply food for growth as well as energy. An active child uses up vast amount of nervous and muscular energy during the day. Fruit or fruit juice, hot or cold cereal with thin cream or top milk, milk or cocoa made with milk, toast and a soft cooked egg is an example of a well balanced breakfast for a growing child. This menu of course may be varied to suit individual conditions. Keep in mind that milk and cereals are among least expensive of foods and one of the most nourishing and wholesome combinations of food.

Variety is indeed the spice of life and is there any time in the whole day when one needs a little spice more than in the morning? The good housewife who would send her family forth one hundred per cent efficient for the day's work or pleasure will try to get as much variety as possible into her breakfast menu.

ALPACA SUIT

Navy blue silk alpaca fashions a Geirul suit that is stunning. The skirt seems straight line but really has five gores hanging as loose panels over a tight drop skirt with kick pleats in each side. The coat slopes from hipline in the back to a short Eton in front. All edges are bound in matching satin showing the season's tendency to high-light style.

Authentic Chic For Young Americans For Easter

Authentic chic for young Americans comes by varied paths this Easter. Left to right: A one-sleeve cape and a grey broadtail scarf give swank to a grey coat for Miss Twelve-Year-Old. Little Sister is very smart in a checked coat in red and tan topped by a neat little red Milan hat. Brother now has his blue and white linen suit and his socks elaborately embroidered by hand. Frenchy is the ensemble for the wee one that uses two shades of rose and kasha and silk. Its borders of the darker shades are all done modernistically and have diamond dots too. The felt hat matches. A new suit has its flaring skirt and coat of blue printed kasha with an over-blouse of blue flat crepe. The hat is of printed kasha too and is tricorn.

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

ASTER modes for little Americans are as fascinating, individual and different as the tots who will wear them. Style enters the Easter Sunday School parade. The day is past when Mother can buy a remnant and just make Jane any kind of frock she thinks of and expect it to suffice. Jane wants an ensemble this year, if she is the smart little edition of the chic woman she should be eventually. George and Tom are still much less interested in clothes than sister. But there is evidence of individuality in boys' things for spring this year: Hand-touched suits for little fellows, and unusual patterned worsteds with shirts, ties and socks to blend for older brother.

CHIC PATTERNED GOODS AVAILABLE

However, if Mother is handy with the needle she can frock Jane beautifully for little cost this season. For there are such worlds of lovely diminutive patterned goods made expressly for little Misses Three-to-Twelve.

If she would heed to chic fashion line, let Mother note the following highlights of junior fashions: Yoke treatments executed in curves, points or set-back design, elaborated by embroidery, bandings, platings.

Coats invariably have a cape, a bow or a scarf.

Tiny sleeves on party things come via berthas, frills or little shirred capes.

Wee cheeks, diminutive floral designs and invisible plaids all are smart for youngsters this year. Red is very, very good. Green follows red in popularity. Pinks in rose and beige tones are very good and the old combination of blue and white is slightly. Light blues are in evidence everywhere. There are fewer browns for youngsters. The youth of America is gay and colorful this spring.

ENSEMBLES ARE THREE KINDS

There are three kinds of ensembles for little sister. The long coat with frock is always a good bet for the first choice. It allows other combinations. Next comes the worsted coat of sports character, with a skirt and sweater under it for school. Third comes the dressy ensemble of elaborated coat with contrasting frock that carries out the decoration.

A collection of new spring things is shown which illustrates various types of Easter clothes and plays up the highlights of style.

For the biggest of the little girls this Easter dignity is given a chic grey coat with grey broadtail scarf by adding a one arm cape with silver nail heads around its edge. This coat is youthful but most modish. Its lower edge rounds up in front, giving a lady-touch that a young miss likes. Topping this grey felt hat has a straw banding and a little slot scaming over straw for a trim.

For the well-dressed child, nothing is smarter than a little checked coat and matching Milan hat. This one is very neat in red and tan, with a red hat with a little tan in its ribbon. The coat is cut raglan sleeves, buttons with novelty buttons of gold and has a little scarf flap to its buttoned up collar.

Very Frenchy in its chic is a little ensemble in two shades of rose. This is one where Mother's needle has a chance to do overtime on the decoration. For the slightly flaring coat has a border all around it and up the front of a darker shade of rose, applied in a somewhat modernistic design with a little triangular polka dot for good measure. Its collar just falls open neatly, of the darker shade. The little silk frock under the coat is a lighter rose, with the dark shade decorating the simple little round necked frock. Even the hat of felt carries out the triangular trim.

The trend towards somewhat more elaborate things for children is attested by little boys' suits. Here we find hand-fagotting, linen frills and so on. A little blue and white linen suit, for instance, has little rows of hand-stitching in blue up the front of the white blouse. Socks of white have blue dots, too.

AN ENSEMBLE FROM PRINTED KASHA Printed kasha is neat, attractive and very smart when made into a three-piece ensemble in pastel colors.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE little coal car was a wreck, and Scouty loudly shouted: "Heck! I never thought we'd come to this. Is everyone all right? I must admit I ache a bit. Outside of that I'm feeling fit. The train threw us so far. I thought we'd sail right out of sight."

And then he calmly looked around, and all about him, on the ground, he saw his friends the Times and the funny coal men, too. They all had landed here and there. The shock was quite a sudden scare. One coal man said, "We're lucky that we all came safely through." Then Clowdy to a coal man said, "I don't think that you used your head. You surely knew where we were bound, and that we'd get a thump. You should have warned us with a shout, and told the whole bunch to look out. Then ere the train crashed we'd have had a dandy chance to jump."

The coal man whined, "Oh, don't blame me, I'm just as sorry as can be, but honest injun, I've never been upon this trip before. Say, I was jarred as bad as you, and all my bones are aching, too. I never would have tried it if I'd known what was in store."

Just then they heard a rippling noise. "Oh, that is one of life's sweet joys," said Carpy, as he scampered off. "A stream's nearby. I'm glad. We all are sooty, from that old mine. We'll wash, and soon be looking fine. T his is the best chance to clean up that we have ever had."

They found the stream a waterfall. Along the shore was room for all. The Times dipped and splashed their hands. Then to the sun they ran. They'd washed real clean and, with a sigh, one said, "The sun will make us dry." It wasn't long until the bunch were looking spic and span.

(The coal men are seized in the next story.)

THE NEW Saint Sinner

By Anne Austin

© 1929, N.E.A. SERVICE, INC.

It looks could slay S. Pruitt's unsuccessful career as a member of Stanton's most exclusive "younger set" would have been terminated before Nils Jonson reached the door leading into the sun parlor. As it was, the girl who was tolerated only because she was George Pruitt's sister grinned gleefully into the murderous glare from Harry Blaine's grey eyes.

Harry, outraged, turned and strode toward Bob Hathaway, who was turning the radio dial, blissfully oblivious to the electric undercurrents of potential drama with which his living room was dangerously overcharged.

"Hello, Blaine!" Bob greeted the reporter, above a flood of dance music which he had just released. "Did you know I'm designing a new home for your plant? Want to see a sketch of the new building you'll be staying in about six months from now."

"Ticked pink," Harry agreed mechanically. "Where's the sketch?" "In my desk in the sun parlor," Bob answered, as he started to draw the reporter away.

"Then I'm afraid we'll have to wait a bit, old man," Harry told him, in a constrained voice. "The sun parlor's pretty well occupied right now."

Bob chuckled. "Petting party, eh? This wild younger generation! As a stand old married man I— Good Lord! What the devil—?"

If, as Tony Tarver had said earlier in the evening, an audience was necessary to Cherry whenever that small volcano erupted, she must have been pleased with the sensation she created when she flung open the door leading from the sun parlor to the living room, and shrieked at the invisible occupants of the room she had just quitted.

"You beasts! You cads! I loathe you both! I never want to see either of you again!" For an instant after she had slammed the door upon the two men whom she had publicly insulted, Cherry stood against it, her small bosom rising and falling tumultuously, her topaz eyes blazing in the white face. Then before any of the stunned audience could recover sufficiently to move toward her, her tiny body was flashing across the room.

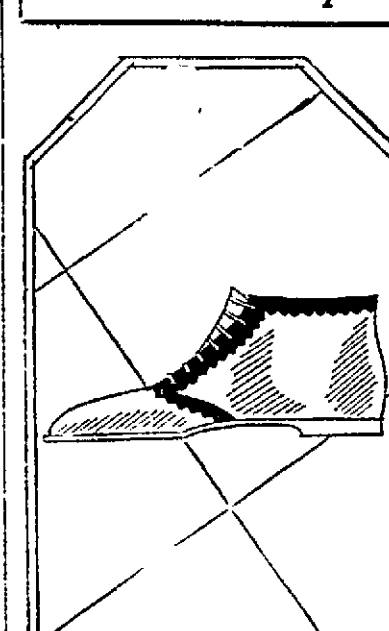

Faith, her face as pale as her sister's was about to follow Cherry, when Bob, his arms held out, stepped in her path.

"My dance, honey? No use wasting this music I had such a hard time finding," he invited with casual cheerfulness, for the benefit of their guests. Then in a low voice as she dazedly submitted to his embrace and fell into step with him, "Act as if nothing had happened. We've got to be civilized, even if Cherry isn't."

George Pruitt and his sister, Selma, Harry Blaine and Rhoda Jonson were joining their host and hostess in the dance when the slum of the front hall door told Faith that Cherry had fled the house. Just then, as if they had been waiting for a signal, the door into the sun parlor was opened and Nils Jonson and Alah Beardsley emerged. Faith's eyes grew wider and wider as she looked at them, then her head dropped to her husband's shoulder. A shudder shook her whole body.

CHIFFON GOWNS ARE SHIRRED TO THE BODY

New York—There are two distinctive types of evening frocks now being exploited. One is decidedly of the "princess" type. It has a square décolleté with narrow straps over the shoulder. It is form-fitting, the mousseline and chiffon materials being shirred to the body. Even in the front they are long and almost touch the floor in the back. If there can be said to be a waistline it is high. The other type has tight fitting short bodices with the skirts flared by means of flounces.

Sets Style

This lovely New York girl, now appearing in George White's famous "Scandals," has plenty of personality. Not only has she won Broadway's admiration for the cleverness of her acting and dancing, but she has literally "set the style" for Fifth Avenue by the way she dresses her hair.

"Girls in my position must do everything to keep their appearance pleasing," says Miss Manners. "But I lead such a busy life that I can only use the simplest methods. I know I have discovered the easiest way of doing my hair. It's so popular now here in New York. It keeps my hair so easily manageable that I can dress it any way I want and it stays in place wonderfully. All I do is put a Little Dandarine on my brush every time I use it. My hair was dull and wiry before I started using Dandarine. Now it's so bright and sparkling and so soft and fluffy that every one compliments me. Dandarine soothes my scalp and keeps away all traces of dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean, I don't need to shampoo half as often as I used to."

Dandarine quickly removes the oily film from the hair; brings out its natural color; makes it fairly sparkle. It keeps your hair soft and easily manageable while you're letting it grow to the new length. It helps stop dandruff. It is delightfully fragrant; isn't oily; doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 5c bottles. Over five million used a year.

MUSIC

Literary
In Nature

APPLETON women's interests are for the most part literary, a review of the programs of the various clubs would indicate. Only two organizations specifically have for their purpose the study and culture of interest in music. They are the Wednesday Musicals and the Music department of the Appleton Womens club.

Three clubs, the Town and Gown club, the Fortnightly club and the Wednesday club are purely literary. The first named studies American and British contemporary poetry and drama, the Fortnightly club has a varied program of literature, including fiction, biography, poetry and drama, while the Wednesday club is in its second year of studying the development of the English novel.

The West End Reading club is the only organization to devote its entire program to art. It is studying the Italian Renaissance and combines a monthly lecture by Dr. O. P. Fairfield with a meeting at which the members individually present phases of the subject.

The Tourist World Cruise is the subject of the Tourists club for this year. Five clubs have general programs art, literature and current events. The Clio club describes its program as the study of arts and crafts and book reviews; the Over the Top club is a reading group and includes current events in its programs.

Both the Monday club and the Tuesday Study club have extremely varied programs embracing literature, art, subjects from the field of science, geography, history, and citizenship, while the program of the P. E. O. Sisterhood is dominated by literature.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Brotherhood of Trinity English Lutheran church will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the church. Regular business is scheduled.

Chapter JM of Trinity Guild, of which Mrs. Nicholas Marx is captain, met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Arnold Schurz, 328 N. Oneida. The last tenet topic, Friends of Africa, was discussed. The next meeting will be the second Monday in April at the home of Mrs. Edmund P. Johnson, 305 S. Meadest.

The second meeting of the Lincoln Pioneer club was held Monday night at First Baptist church. Harold Eads is the guide or leader of the group. Chelton Neves is chief ranger; Donald Peterson is deputy ranger; Edward Delrow is recorder and Merrill Miller is treasurer. Red and white are the club colors. Members of the program committee are Gerald Stallman, Theron Miller, Charles Kenyon and Merrill Miller. Meetings will be held at 7:30 each Monday evening at the church.

Forty new members were received into the Christian Mother society of St. Therese church Sunday morning and two hundred members received Holy communion in a body. The society will present a play, Southern Cinderella, on Friday night, April 5 at the parish hall. Mrs. James Kocha is directing the play.

An Irish Bubble banquet entertained 17 members of the Baptist Young People's union Saturday night at First Baptist church. Harold Eads was chairman of the arrangements. Miss Kathryn Arnold sang "Little Town of Athlone" and Mrs. A. R. Eads won the prize for blowing the largest balloon. The prize for writing the best poem was won by Miss Gwendolyn Vandark. Robert Eads gave a short talk at the banquet.

Democracy in the church is the topic for discussion by Herbert Wichman at the regular monthly educational and social meeting of the Senior Olive branch Walther league in the Mount Olive church parlors at 7:30 Tuesday evening. An open forum will follow the discussion. A special program of entertainment has been arranged by the committee in charge. Refreshments will be served.

The general committee for the 1929 Southern Wisconsin Walther league convention met at the Mount Olive church Monday evening to discuss plans. Reports of committees were read. The general committee is composed of Arthur Kahler and Herman Zschaschner of the Senior Olive branch of the Mount Olive church, and Carl Voeks, Rueben Schultz and Bernice Schmiede of the Young People's society of the St. Paul Lutheran church.

CLUB MEETINGS

Members of the West End Reading club will attend a lecture given by Dr. O. P. Fairfield Wednesday afternoon at the college library. The subject of the address will be "Titan."

There will be no meeting of Lady Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Appleton Women's club. The meeting has been omitted because of Holy week.

Members of the Rebekah Three Links club will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall. Mrs. George Ruggles, Mrs. Frank Chandler and Mrs. Anna Giese will be the hostesses.

Miss Ada Meyer read three short stories at the meeting of the Clio club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Wright, E. Washington. Eleven members were present.

Stillmans in Spotlight

Again the family affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Stillman are in the spotlight, the latter having been turned on them this time by the slander suit brought against Stillman by Fred Beauvais, Indian guide whom Stillman charged 10 years ago was the father of Mrs. Stillman's child. Red-headed Flo Leeds, ex-show girl, whose love for Stillman cooled after the divorce battle, is named as a co-defendant. Above is Miss Leeds with her child; at the right, Beauvais, and below him, Mr. and Mrs. Stillman.

LODGE NEWS

The date of the card party for Pythian Sisters has been changed from Thursday afternoon of this week to Thursday, April 4 because of Holy week. The regular meeting of Pythian Sisters will be held next Monday evening at Castle hall.

There will be a regular meeting of the Womens Catholic Order of forests at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at Catholic home. Officers for the ensuing year will be installed at the meeting of the lodge on April 10.

Final balloting on candidates to be initiated in the President's class on Wednesday night, April 3 at Lawrence Memorial chapel will take place at the meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at Eagle hall. The class is so named in honor of the national president, Ed Ryan of Philadelphia, who will be present at the meeting next Wednesday night and Elmer Koerner, president of the local order. The radio membership campaign will be concluded on April 5. Because of the Easter dance next Monday night the weekly rehearsal for the minstrel show will be held next Tuesday night at Eagle hall.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon instead of 7:30 in the evening at Eagle hall. There will be balloting on candidates.

An Easter surprise and the sale of Easter food will be features of the regular meeting of the Women of Mooseheart Legion at 7:45 Wednesday night at Moose temple. Mrs. Harry Leftwich is chairman of the committee in charge.

Fidelity chapter, No. 94, Order of Eastern Star will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Masonic temple. A business session will be held.

H. H. BENTON
SPEAKER AT
A. A. L. MEET

One of the principal obligations of good citizenship is that people give up certain personal liberties for the benefit of others, attorney Homer H. Benton told members of branch 453 of the Aid Association for Lutherans of Mt. Olive Lutheran church Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting. His topic was citizenship.

In a discussion that followed the address Mr. Benton's declaration was applied to the case of the prohibition law. Several new members were admitted to the society following the address, and a social hour completed the evening's meeting.

SCOUT HEAD TALKS ON
BOY NATURE AT MEET

Boy nature was the topic of an address by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive at the regular dinner meeting of the Men's Kiwanis club at Memorial building, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Clark outlined the natural urges found in youngsters between the ages of 10 and 17 years and told how through understanding of these characteristics the scout program can take care of them.

He also urged that parents cooperate with the troop so that the welfare of the youngster will be taken care of in the best possible manner.

"As soon as youngsters' minds and hands are put to work doing useful things and creating the things they like many of their problems will be solved," Mr. Clark said.

SOPH TRIANGLE CLUB
PLANS SWIM CONTEST

Plans for a Junior high school swimming meet were discussed at the regular weekly meeting of the Sophomore Triangle club of the Appleton high school at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. Committees are to be appointed to work on the project and it is expected the meet will be staged in April, according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary of the association. Regular business matters also were transacted.

The Freshman Triangle club of the high school also met at the association building Monday evening. An open forum on club problems was held.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
TO HAVE SCOUT TROOP

Plans are being made for a valley council boy scout troop at Memorial M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. The Rev. R. A. Garrison, pastor, will choose the troop committee this week and it is expected an organization meeting of troop committee-men will be held the early part of next week to select a scoutmaster and arrange a troop program.

The troop probably will be built around Carlton Wahl, life scout, who moved here recently from Louisville, Ky. The youngster suggested that a troop be organized in his church, and as a result the Rev. Mr. Garrison arranged tentative plans and called a conference with Mr. Clark.

Attend Meeting.
A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, returned Tuesday from Stevens Point where he had attended a meeting of a committee which is revising the geography section of the state course of study. The work has been completed and will be placed in the hands of a printer next week.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Fair tonight and Wednesday, except probably rain or snow in extreme north; rising temperature Wednesday and in northwest portion tonight.

GENERAL WEATHER
The pressure is high this morning from the central valleys westward over the Rockies, with fair weather. This "high" is in position to cause generally fair weather in this section tonight, possibly followed by increasing cloudiness on Wednesday. Temperatures are moderate in all sections and are rising over the Canadian northwest, where the pressure is falling again. This northwestern low pressure is expected to develop further and advance southward causing rising temperatures in this section on Wednesday.

BUILDING BOOM IN KAUKAUNA IS SEEN BY DEALERS

Large Lumber Shipments Already Arriving in City for Early Orders

Kaukauna — Kaukauna lumber dealers are getting in large shipments of lumber for summer building. Prospects for the summer and fall are much better than last year, according to local dealers.

Already farmers near the city are starting to do repair work on their homes and barns. Last summer the farmers did a large amount of repair work and building of additions to their farms. It was pointed out by one lumber dealer that the farmers in this vicinity have enjoyed a good year, leading to the expectation of much business.

A number of city people have been inspecting home building plans and have expressed their intention of building here this summer. Building in the city is not expected to be flourishing, but a good summer is predicted by the dealers.

Many homes in the city are being repaired. The work consists of re-roofing, building additions and garages and inside remodeling.

The removal of a part of the Chicago and Northwestern shops will affect the building proposition very little, it was stated. Only 10 men were put out of work and a large number of these were observed by the Meloch company. The loss of the shops department is offset by the new Kaukauna plant which is increasing its staff of workers almost continually.

NAVIGATION MAY OPEN ON APRIL 1

Final Repairs Are Being Made on Governmental Boats Along River

Kaukauna — Although no official announcement has been yet received here, it is probable that navigation on the Fox River will start on Monday, April 1. A Rasmussen, lockmaster, stated Monday that the last repairs are being made on the government boats and that they are in readiness for the opening of navigation on the river.

Ben Frueh of the Fox River Navigation company reports that all the company's boats have been inspected and are in good running condition. A large number of boats have been docked between the five locks in this city for the winter. All the ice on the river has broken up and will not hinder navigation when it starts.

VACATION AT TRINITY SCHOOL STARTS MONDAY

Kaukauna — Easter vacation for students of Trinity Lutheran school started Monday and will end next Tuesday, according to Principal T. Boettcher. The vacation started two days earlier so that the teachers could attend a district meeting at Appleton.

Mae Busch, Broke, Tells World She Has Been A Fool

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Cal. — "I'm broke because I'm a fool!"

That's what Mae Busch told me after revealing in a Los Angeles court that she had only $416 to her name. The film actress went to court to ask for the release of an attachment filed by an agent for that sum. Miss Busch stated that if the attachment was not released she and her sick father, who she supports, would suffer real want.

"I am not worried over the fact that I am virtually broke," continued Mae. "I have thrown away thousands and thousands of dollars but I am coming back and I am going to save my money from now on. I've learned my lesson—learned that trying to keep pace with Hollywood doesn't pay."

Judge Marshall F. McComb released the attachment on her "fortune." That money, declared Mae, will keep both her and her father until she gets another job.

Mae's Story

"Before" I came to Hollywood I did not know what wealth and luxury were," Miss Busch said. "Then I broke into pictures and met with almost immediate success. Before I realized what was happening more money than I had ever dreamed of started pouring in on me. I guess having so much money turned my head. I started spending it recklessly without a thought of the future."

"My chief ambition was to outdo everyone else in the picture business. And since there are many others with the same idea it proved to be a pretty difficult task. If one of my friends gave a party, I would give one a week or so later on an even more lavish scale. And if I saw another actress riding in a car which cost more than mine, I couldn't rest until I had bought an even more expensive one. I never stopped to think that some day the flow of gold would stop. That is Hollywood's greatest curse—it makes lavish spenders and poor thinkers."

"There were other things too, a pretentious home, servants and clothes. And they all cost money. I used to spend upwards of $18,000 a year for clothes. I never would wear an evening gown on two consecutive nights so I kept at least 12 of them in my wardrobe all the time. And I figured that I had to have at least three evening wraps a year, costing $500 or more each."

"I had to keep a cook and servants in my home and have a liveried chauffeur to drive my expensive cars. A private secretary was a necessity. So was a business agent, a personal publicity man and a personal maid to go to the studio with me. Besides that I gave thousands to friends that I never got back."

"However, those days are a past chapter. I have learned how recklessly I threw money away. I have awakened and know now how to live sensibly and I also know that it won't hurt my standing as a film star. I have just completed 'Alibi' for United Artists. It is my first talking picture and I feel confident that it is my first step toward stargate."

Miss Busch's experiences are little different than that of many other stars. And many of them are nearly as badly off financially as she is.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one quarter teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fiber of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 8 1/2 bottle of Kruschen Salts at Schiltz Bros. 3 stores, Appleton and Menasha or any drug store in 2 months with the discount unless you find that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

ONEIDA OFFICERS HAVE OPPOSITION

Oneida — The town board members who are seeking reelection are having opposition this spring. P. W. Silverwood, a former chairman, will run in opposition to Frank Appleton, who has been town chairman for seven years. Josiah Charles will oppose J. W. Cornelius, who has been supervisor for 12 years, and George Naze will oppose Fred R. Hill, who has been supervisor for the past five years.

The St. Marys choir will give a comedy-drama entitled "The Regiment of Two" on Easter Sunday at the St. Mary hall, both in the afternoon and evening.

PICK WINNERS OF SPEECH CONTESTS AT KIMBERLY H. S.

Ruth Schwanke Declamatory Winner, and Roger LaBerge Oratory Victor

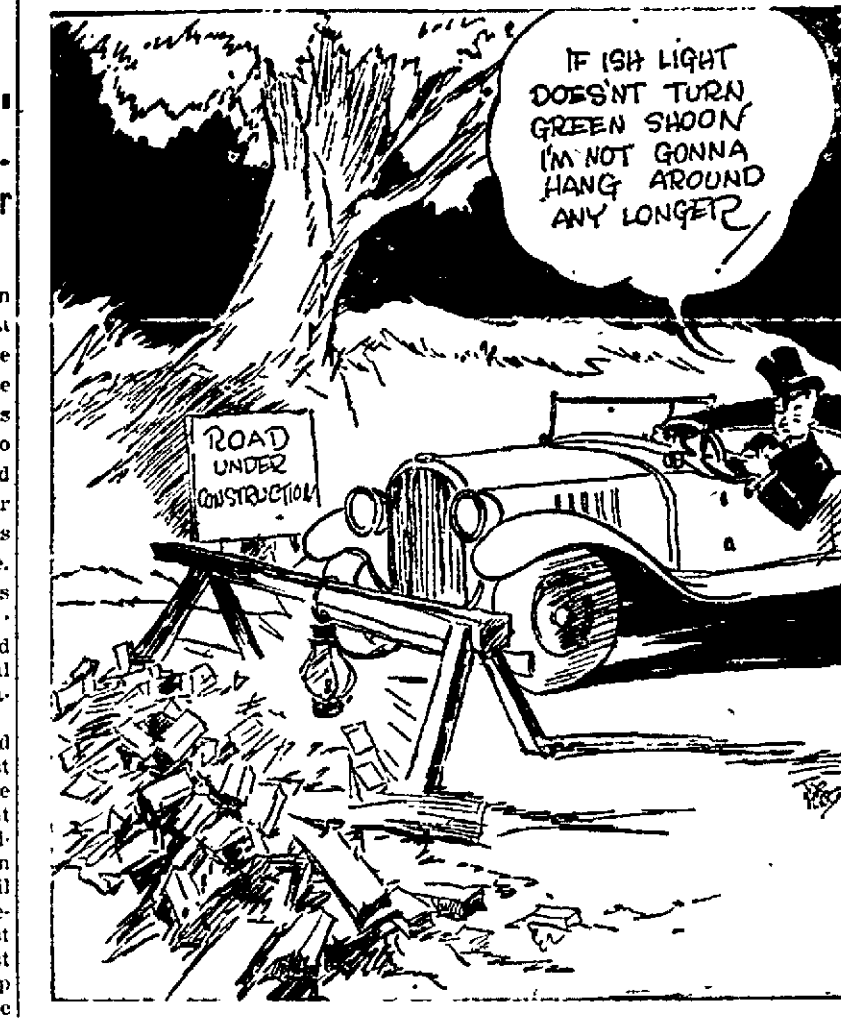

Kimberly — The local elimination declamatory and oratorical contest was held Monday evening in the Kimberly high school. First place in the declamatory contest was awarded to Ruth Schwanke, who spoke on "Just a Pup," and second to Florence LaBerge, with "Mother of Mine." Marie Alice with "Who's Afraid" was winner of third place. Roger LaBerge, who presented as his oration "The Toll of Industry," was awarded first place and Wilfred Hartzheim, who spoke on "Capital Punishment," second, in the oratorical contest.

The winners of first and second places in the declamatory contest and the winner of first place in the oratorical contest will represent Kimberly high school in a Tri-County league contest to be held in this village on Friday evening, April 5. Roger LaBerge, who also represented the school in the contest last year, at that time was awarded first place and won a silver loving cup for the school. Other schools in the league are Valders, Stockbridge, Reedsville and Hilbert.

Other declamations which were presented on Monday evening were: the "Whistling Mother," by Catherine Verbeten; "White Carnations," by Idella Courchane; "On the Dark Trail," by Marie Kopke, and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," by Helen Martineau. Two other orations were presented, "Soviet Russia," by John Doerfler, and "The Idealist," by Harry Van Hilbren. Judges of the contest were the Rev. P. J. Skell, Mrs. Oscar Ehke, and C. E. Laut. The contest was postponed from last Friday evening because of the inability of one of the judges to be present.

Special Passion week service will be observed at the Kimberly Presbyterian church. The Rev. A. F. Perkins of Green Bay, will assist the Rev. J. Brinks, pastor. A sermon will be given by the Rev. Perkins at services each evening, and as an added feature he will have movies to illustrate his sermons. Services mounted trumpeters played "Aux Champs" while along the line of march two ranks of helmeted soldiers presented arms.

Two battalions of French infantry followed the corps bearer, marching with their bayonets fixed and in the company of 100 pieces of music playing a military funeral march. French marine followed with their board blue edged bordered with white.

Then ten abreast and ten deep came the future officers of France—perhaps a farthing or so among them—studied from the Polytechnic schools, Marshal Foch's alma mater. Belgian grenadiers in two detachments were next.

Ten American veterans, bearing the flag of the American Legion post in Paris and an American flag, both draped in crepe, marched by. They were followed by two ranks of officers.

The famous Goldstream guards, representing Great Britain, followed the American.

One hundred and twenty Italians followed, the Polish soldiers, Rumanians and Moroccans.

Then the funeral cortege itself.

CHURCH NOTABLES

In front of Cardinal Dubois and the Bishop of Paris, the two prelates preceded in their scarlet robes and long trains carried by altar boys. They were followed by a group of priests.

An ordered Marshal Foch's favorite horse reversed boot in its stirrups.

Behind him was the plain oak coffin of the marshal of France, covered with white flag and borne on a gun carriage of "75." It was drawn by six black horses.

Running from the casket were black cords held by Minister of War Poincaré and officers of the allied armies.

Every eye was off, most of the women eyes uncovering. Above, the whirl of airplanes could be heard, sounding themselves like new plaintive notes in the sad symphony of mass and pind and color. The mist was so thick though they could not be seen.

Behind the casket there followed Rec de Bouquieres, chief of the protocol, guardian of French formalities. Thirty feet behind him, walking along his head slightly bowed, came the President of France, who set aside preceding and protocol and insisted in marching behind the body of the man who saved France twice.

General Pershing headed the ranks of the plibers on the left side, British field Marshal Jacob leading a single column on the right, with generals and marshals of other nations following and Minister of War Poincaré bringing up their rear.

ABINET IN LINE

Next came the cabinet with Premier Poincaré and M. Barthou ahead and the remainder following with the exception of M. Poincaré who was head of the coffin.

Nearby the ministers of the earth were represented in the myriad colored group which followed.

Behind this show of the glory of war and power there appeared, with a sudden shock to everyone who saw, four maimed and scarred figures, attesting its bitterness and tragedy. The crowds saw the four figures and some moaned, "the mutilated." Sobs came from here and there in the mass of watchers who saw again in memory their own kin with faces shot away, eyes gone, arms and legs amputated. They were pitiful to look upon but courageous in their misfortunes and honored and beloved of all France.

When the procession had passed under Napoleon's statue the ceremony was no longer for the public. The marshal's family in the presence of officers of his own rank paid their last farewell to the great military leader's remains in strict privacy.

The far was then placed in a vault called "Vault of the Governor of Les Invalides" to remain until a sarcophagus worthy of him and in keeping with that of Napoleon can be prepared for him.

EGG PRICES INCREASE FROM 30 TO 40 CENTS

Egg prices have advanced from 30 to 35 cents a dozen during the past week, due to the pre-Easter demand according to local egg dealers. The supply is just large enough to satisfy the Easter demand, but the general trend of the market is lower.

A rise in prices before Easter and a sudden drop immediately after is usually anticipated about this time of the year. Last week eggs were retailing at from 30 to 32 cents a dozen, and it was expected that by this week prices would drop still lower.

Dealers predict that prices probably will drop to 30 cents and lower after Easter. At this time of the year chickens lay the most eggs, dealers point out.

FLAMING ARROW OPENS PROGRAM OF HEALTH WORK

Starts Four-day Tour of Outagamie-co School Monday Morning

Flaming Arrow, 19-year-old health warrior of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Milwaukee, started a four-day tour of the village and rural schools in Outagamie-co Monday. This full-blooded Pueblo Indian youth, whose trips are financed by funds raised in the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, will give his health chalk talk before schools in Black Creek, Seymour, Mackville, Combined Locks, Kaukauna, Bear Creek, Kimberly, Hortonville, Dale, Shiocton, Nichols and Clever. The tour was arranged by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse and Miss Cecil Flynn, Kaukauna city nurse.

Tobed in the splendor of his tribesmen who live in New Mexico, Flaming Arrow will sing war songs, dance, draw pictures and give sign language to present his health chalk talk, using the dramatic interest of his tribesmen to teach Wisconsin persons the value of good food, rest, fresh air and sunshine. The work of Flaming Arrow is the latest addition to the statewide educational program which is being carried on by the W. A. T. A.

On Monday the health warrior spoke in the schools at Black Creek, Seymour, Mackville and Combined Locks. Tuesday he appeared at the Outagamie County Normal school and at the Park, junior high and Holy Cross schools at Kaukauna, and Tuesday evening he will speak at a health meeting at 8:30 at Bear Creek.

Wednesday his schedule includes four talks at Kaukauna, Nicolet school, 9:30 a. m.; St. Mary, 11 o'clock, high school and vocational school, 1:15 p. m.; and Lutheran Trinity school, 2 o'clock.

On Thursday he will appear at the Industrial Hollow school at 9 o'clock, before the Kimberly mill employees at 12:30, at the Dale Village school at 2 o'clock and at the Hortonville school at 3:30 in the afternoon. His tour of Outagamie-co will close Friday afternoon with appearances at 9 o'clock at the Shiocton school; 11:30 at the Nichols school, and 1:30 at Clever school.

RADIO BUSINESS IS LEAPING AHEAD TOWARD NEW MARK

Sales for 1929 Expected to Exceed $800,000,000 Writer Believes

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1929

New York.—There are now seven million families in the United States who own radio sets and government departments estimate the total number of sets in use at 9,500,000. This marks an increase from 66,000 sets in 1922.

Sales have risen from $50,000,000 in 1922 to $650,000,000 in 1928. They are now proceeding at a rate which makes it probable that sales this year will total at least $800,000,000. Some experts declare the sales of receiving sets this year will pass the 1928 mark by 40 per cent. The tube manufacturers are securing an equal increase in their business.

The big gain has undoubtedly been due in some respects to the development and distribution of receiving sets operated direct from house current. There are now 19,000,000 of the 25,000,000 homes in the United States wired for electricity. The 15,000,000 or more of these which have not electric radio sets or have battery operated sets naturally present a big broad target for retail distributors to shoot at.

BATTERY SETS DISAPPEAR

The day of the battery-operated sets in the rural and frontier districts is far from over and the export trade naturally must reflect this, since in other countries electrification of houses is less widespread than in the United States. Foreign sales are being made at the rate of $12,000,000 a year.

A sale of tubes, especially those for electrically operated sets, rose to $110,000,000 in 1928 and this seems likely to be exceeded this year. The industry itself is in a far more stable position than two years ago. There are now about half as many manufacturing concerns operating but these or some of them are doubling their output as compared with even 1923.

The huge sales of sets caused a rush of orders for tubes which has been met with difficulty. This resulted in the development of a number of new producing companies. Even so, most companies have orders on hand to keep them running at capacity for an indefinite period and some have had to turn business away. In 1923, 50,000,000 tubes were sold and it would not be surprising if this were topped by 10,000,000 or more by the end of 1929. However, by the end of the year the plant capacity of the producers will be doubled and some set producers are going to make their own.

There is some danger, therefore, that the tube plants may be in a position to supply far more tubes than are needed next year.

$35,000,000 IN AUDIENCE

The growth of the industry is shown by the fact that 300,000 workers are now engaged in production and 30,000 in the distribution of radio products. The radio audience has increased from 66,000 in 1922, when individual earphone sets were in use, to 35,000,000 today.

The phonograph sales are keeping up the pace set by radio with few signs of lagging. It is estimated there are 13,000,000 phonographs in this country and the interest in radio does not seem to have detracted from the hold of the phonograph on the public. Rather the

The Toughest Old Cough Can Now Be Stopped

Lingering coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out. Those are the breed of coughs that prove common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day.

It's guaranteed to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

RESUME CONSTRUCTION OF LAWRENCE GYM

Construction work on the new Lawrence college gymnasium has been resumed following the severe winter months. Workmen are laying brick and limestone for the first story. Most of the structural steel work and the foundation of the new structure was completed before work was suspended several months ago. It is expected work will be started on the roof within the next two weeks, according to construction men.

Two have complemented each other and been worked into a satisfactory system of home entertainment. There has been an improvement in Phonographic tone and, besides, the placing of a radio set and a phonograph in one piece of furniture has considerably widened the field of popularity.

The matter of furniture is an important one. The radio set and the phonograph are now recognized as articles of furniture. Appearance is a most important factor and sets are being designed to harmonize with almost any type of interior decoration.

It is generally considered that television still is in a somewhat experimental stage but it is receiving the keen attention of all the big manufacturers and some already are prepared, it is understood, to distribute sets providing this feature. More complete development of television may mean a new line-up among the producers and so may the introduction of wired radio with sets installed on a rental basis. This industry is still in its infancy but undoubtedly is a healthy, fast growing child.

COMMODITY NOTES

Automobiles

Detroit.—The Cadillac Motor Car Company has announced a new building program involving six separate projects and the expenditure of $5,000,000. This will give when completed, an annual capacity of 60,000 cars. This will make possible a yearly business volume approaching $50,000,000.

Fruit

Hammond, La.—The first shipments of the 1929 strawberry crop from this great producing center have been dispatched north and in a few days the shipping season will be in full swing. An unusual number of buyers are attending the nightly sales here.

Paper

St. Paul.—The development and sale of the new cornstalk paper being turned out at Danville, Ill., and Sartell, Minn., will be pushed by farm organizations as a farm relief measure. Some Australian producers are investigating with a view to producing in that country.

Chemicals

New Orleans.—The National Industrial Alcohol company has sold its property and plant here to a New York identity of which has not been made up public. The price was $750,000. Editors in automobiles read: "This will give when completed, deleting them."

KENOSHA LAWYERS BACK JUDGE BELDEN

Bar Association Expresses Confidence and Will Defend Him at Hearing

Kenosha.—(P)—The Kenosha Bar association Tuesday adopted a resolution of confidence in the "integrity, ability and honesty" of Judge E. B. Belden, who is under fire for his part in a grand jury investigation eight years ago.

The judge recently was attacked in the Wisconsin assembly on the ground that he gave his approval to liquor expenditures by detectives investigating crime conditions in Kenosha during the grand jury investigation. His case will come before the state bar committee at the assembly on Wednesday.

Ray L. Stephenson, who introduced the resolution Tuesday, told his colleagues that "every lawyer is a member of the court and when the court is attacked it is the duty of every lawyer to investigate and take prompt and decisive action."

Judge Belden has jurisdiction over the First circuit, comprising Kenosha, Racine and Walworth-cos. Seven attorneys will represent the Kenosha Bar association at Judge Belden's hearing at Madison. They are: Walter W. Hammond, Roy L. Stephenson, Arthur R. Ames, James E. Tully, Alfred L. Drury and Horace J. Mollum. John Kuehl is an alternate representative.

Miss Hattie Vandenberg spent Sunday with friends in Milwaukee. Miss Emma Temple left Saturday for Fond du Lac to spend a week with relatives.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY DRY OFFICE'S BUDGET

Madison.—(P)—The state prohibition departments budget for 1929 will be discussed by the legislative joint finance committee before the voters reach a decision on whether they want that department to continue operation.

The request of Roland W. Diven, prohibition commissioner, for an increase from $60,000 a year to $82,000 for administration of the Sevenson act will be presented to the joint finance committee Tuesday. Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee senator, and author of the resolution for the liquor referendum is a member of the finance committee which is expected to delay its recommendation for the prohibition budget until after the election.

Should the voters decide that repeal of the state dry law is wanted and the legislature so act, the prohibition bill will probably go in to the discard with the department.

Jackie Fields Battles To Win Over Jack Thompson

WELTERWEIGHTS IN ONE OF BEST BOUTS IN BOXING HISTORY

Battling Spectators Precipitate Panic in Eighth Round

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO — (AP) — Jackie Fields, Chicago, Meador and who boxed in California rings, today holds a synthetic claim at least, to the world's welterweight boxing championship. He acquired it by decisively defeating Young Jack Thompson, San Francisco Negro challenger, in their ten round battle in the historic old coliseum Monday night—a thrilling fight that came perilously near ending in a panic in the eighth round.

A crowd of more than 9,000 persons, drawn to the battle by the intense rivalry between the pair, and excited beyond the ordinary thrill by what was one of the best welterweight fights in ring history, was thrown into a panic in the eighth round when two spectators, one drawing a knife and the other a gun to settle their private fight in one corner of the arena, precipitated a terrifying scene of disorder, resulting in the injury of many spectators, some perhaps suffering fatal injuries.

Fields was like the rush of the people stricken spectators in his fight with the California Negro. He was unstoppable in his offensive, unswerving in his determination and completely the master of his foot with possibly the exception of the seventh round. He left no room for doubt as to his superiority over Thompson, winning eight of the ten rounds.

By his victory Fields won recognition as champion from the National Boxing association, which controls the sport in 23 states. He was presented with a $5,000 diamond studded belt, the gift of Promoter Jim Mullen, emblematic of the title. Fields comes into possession of the welterweight crown in the states in which the N. B. A. governs boxing, succeeding Joe Dundee, who has his title declared forfeited for failure to defend it within the six months period which ended last Thursday.

GAR WOOD SETS NEW SPEEDBOAT RECORD

Flashes to New Straightway Mark on Miami Beach Waterway

Miami Beach, Fla. — (AP) — The 500 horse power motors of Gar Wood's "Miss America VII" have boosted the world's water speed record approximately two tenths of a mile an hour.

Sitting at the controls of the craft that last year established a record of 92.938 miles an hour on the Detroit river, the famous speed boat driver Monday flashed his trim little boat up and down the Indian River six times for an average speed of 93.123 miles an hour.

The fresh water record thus was increased .185 of a mile an hour. Although the spit water mark of 80.4 miles an hour, set on the same course in 1927 in the "Miss America V" was broken by more than 13 miles an hour.

Wood's record breaking speed mark came after a week of delay caused by wind and weather. Wood's successful trial brought to an end a season that has seen speed records fall on both land and water. Several weeks ago Major H. O. D. Seagrave of England, piloting his huge "golden arrow" traveled more than 231 miles an hour on the sands of Daytona beach to break the old mile straightaway record by 21 miles an hour.

TIE RECORD FOR LOW INNING BILLIARD GAME

Milwaukee — (AP) — A 22-year-old defending champion tied the world's amateur record for a low inning game as eight cue stars played their first round of matches Monday in the National amateur three cushion billiard tournament being held here this week.

He is J. N. Bozeman, of Vallejo, Calif., who defeated J. P. Rust, New Orleans, southern champion, 50 to 19 in 41 innings to equal the low inning record set in 1926 by Lester Hine, Chicago.

SCHEDULE TWO GAMES IN BASKETBALL LOOP

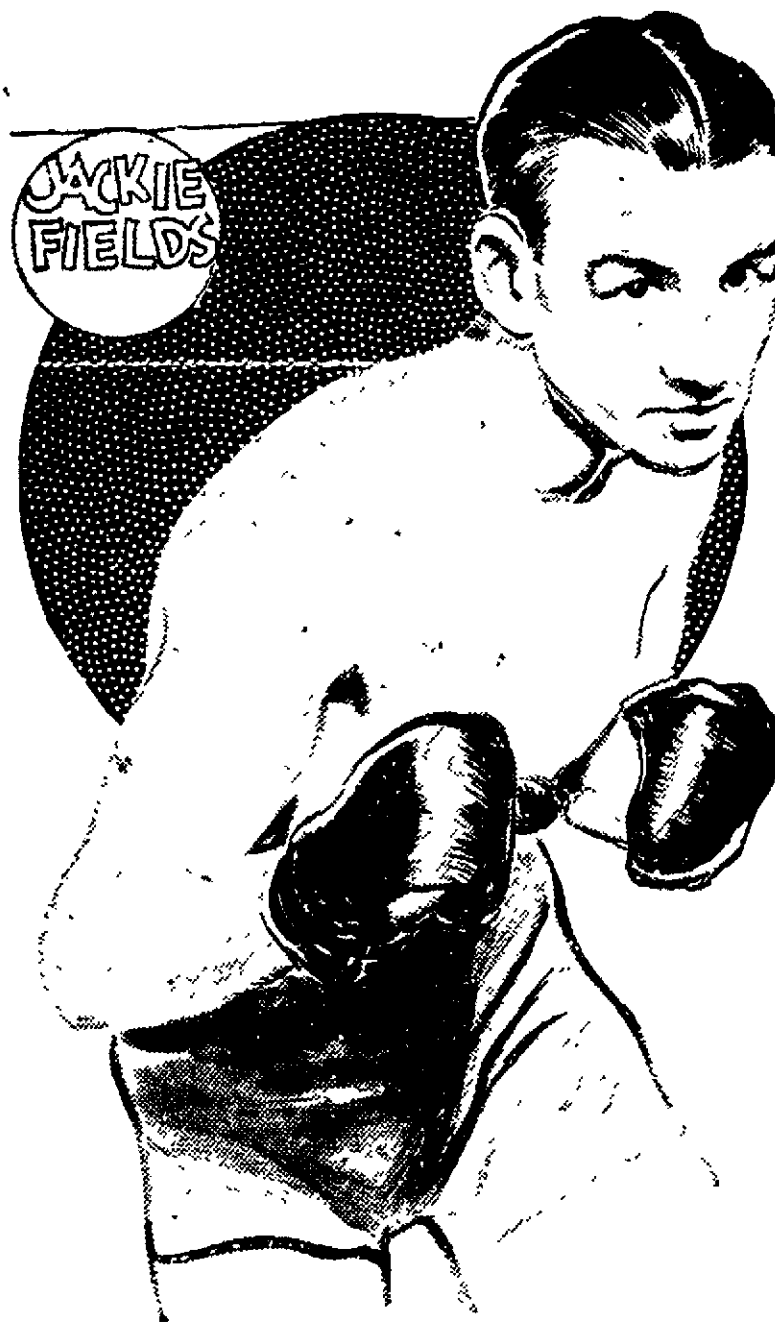

Two games are scheduled for Tuesday evening in the Industrial Y. M. C. A. league on the association floor, according to A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. centers will play the Oakland-Pontiac five at 8:15 Tuesday evening and the Kimberly club of Kimberly will play with the Soldiers of Co. D at 9:15.

BARBER BOWLERS TO ROLL TUESDAY NIGHT

Officers of the Appleton Barber's Union will meet the officers of the Menasha Barber's Union in a bowling match on the Eagle alleys, Tuesday evening. Members of the local aggregation are William Smith, William Reck, George Mignon, Chester Smith and John Deltgen.

GOOD HITTER, POOR FIELDER
Eddie Herman, with the Brooklyn Dodgers, a terrific hitter, but a poor fielder.

Victor Over Young Jack Thompson

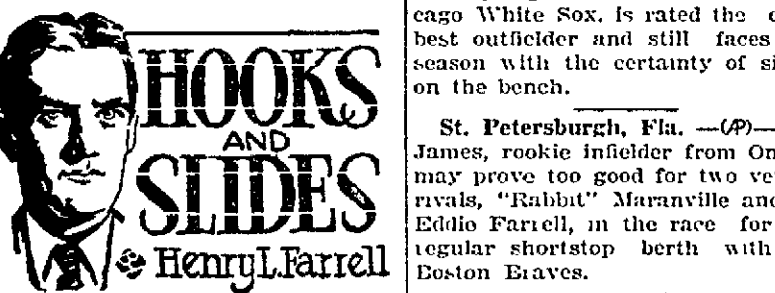

Jackie Fields, Chicago youth, holds a claim to the world's welterweight title as a result of his decisive win over Young Jack Thompson at Chicago, Monday night. Thompson knocked but Joe Dundee, title holder, in two rounds last year. Dundee still is champion although his throne has been declared vacant by the National Boxing association.

Training Camp Gossip

AVON PARK, Fla. — (AP) — It seems that the Yankees without Manager Miller J. Huggins are not the Yankees at all. Last fall, with Huggins at the helm, they took four straight world's series games from the Cardinals. Monday, when Hugh remained in St. Petersburg they lost to those same Cardinals.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — (AP) — The Brooklyn Robins have just about decided Dazzy Vance is worth the $25,000 salary they are paying him. In his first real appearance of the year Monday, the dazzler pitched only three innings against the Braves but he made the Robins look like a real ball club while he was doing it.

ALL FEAR DETROIT
In all of the American league training camps visited by this traveling correspondent there was expressed by the managers a distinct apprehension of the Detroit ball club.

Miller Huggins said it was a club his champions had to beat if they were repeat. Dan Howley said it was the most dangerous club in the league. Walter Johnson said the Tigers had to be figured strong. Bill Carrigan said it was a club that had to be figured away.

Personally, we have a weakness for Bucky Harris and it was rather pleasant to hear fine things said about a very good friend's ball club, but the reporter can't go entirely on sentiment.

The answer to the question about the reasons for the sudden appreciation of the Detroit club can be put in one quotation as follows:

"The Tigers were a powerful ball club last year. It has been improved since last fall. The club has a great manager. A fellow who is a born leader. And then there is Uhl."

"It has Uhl," was the final emphasis given in every statement. They all know that Uhl can pitch. And these managers estimated that he would win from 15 to 25 games for the Tigers.

READY TO TAKE RAP
It so happens that Cleveland sent Uhl across the lake to Detroit last winter and if Uhl should turn the Tigers into a pennant winner, as many of the bright minds in the American League fear, there will be plenty of razzerberries cast at the officials of the Cleveland club.

MAT CHAMP TOSSES MILWAUKEE OPPONENT

Milwaukee — (AP) — Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg retained his world's heavy-weight wrestling title by having things pretty much his own way with Dan McCloud, of Nebraska, here Monday night. His first fall came in 35 minutes, while the second was gained in less than a minute after a series of flying tackles.

For the second time within a month, Ernest Schrage and Joe Rogacki wrestled a 30-minute draw. Carl Poffelt, Lithuanian won from Frank Aguayo in 28 minutes, in the light heavy class.

New Orleans, La. — (AP) — Bill Falk, who came to the Cleveland Indians this spring in a deal with the Chicago White Sox, is rated the club's best outfielder and still faces the season with the certainty of sitting on the bench.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — (AP) — Bob James, rookie infielder from Omaha, may prove too good for two veteran rivals, "Rabbit" Marraville and Dr. Eddie Farrell, in the race for the regular shortstop berth with the Boston Braves.

Washington — (AP) — Sam Rice, veteran of many campaigns in the Washington outfield and a consistent .300 hitter, probably will occupy the role of a substitute this season. Manager Johnson has decided that Goslin, Barnes and West—the latter two youngsters—will compose the regular outfield.

Sports Question Box

Question — Batter hits fly ball. First baseman standing on the first base line with one foot on either side of the baseline. He muffs the ball. If it falls outside of the line is it foul or if it falls inside of the line, is it fair? If the pitcher should stand on the outside of the line and muffed the ball so as to deflect it into fair territory is it fair?

Answer — Rule 41 — Spalding's Baseball Guide informs us plainly that the position of the fielder has nothing to do with whether the ball is foul or fair. It is where the ball falls as when last seen by the umpire that defines whether it is foul or fair.

Question — What was the largest purse Jack Johnson ever got for a fight?

Answer — $120,000 in his fight with Jim Jeffries. Sixty per cent of the receipts netted Johnson $50,000. He got a $10,000 bonus for signing and $50,000 for the moving picture rights.

shortstop badly to fit into our plans for reconstruction. We couldn't reconstruct the club around Uhl when he wouldn't couldn't play ball with us.

"I am not painting Uhl as a bad actor. I thought, after long consideration, that he was just a victim of circumstances and environment. He knew too many people in Cleveland. He had too many friends to be of service to our club. When you consider that we play one half of our games in his home town, you may get the idea what I mean.

"I like Uhl and the other officials and the ball club and the players like him. I think we did him a great favor in getting him into a new uniform and if he comes through I will not whimper."

Badgers Revise Rules For Awarding Athletic Letters

MADISON — A recondification of the rules covering athletic awards at the University of Wisconsin has eliminated the distinction between major and minor sports in addition to standardizing the monogram sweater.

Wisconsin is the second member of the Western Conference to make it possible for members of all athletic teams to win the official varsity letter. Some time ago the University of Illinois placed a similar plan in vogue. The Badger athletic board based on an extensive study of the problem before adopting the award system as it now stands.

The new rules abolish the old "A's" and substitute for it the junior "W", which is identical to the official emblem except for size. The official "W" is plain, 7 in. high and white, mounted on a cardinal sweater. The junior monogram is a 5 in. letter. The only distinction in varsity awards is in favor of the football men, who will receive the blocked "W".

Not only has the "A" been made obsolete, but numeral awards have been limited to members of freshmen squads. The regular numeral sweaters for Fresh team members remain white in color, bearing the cardinal class numerals. However, the board now requires every yearling athlete to remain in school one semester before becoming eligible for his sweater.

John McCarter, president of the athletic board, commented on the new regulations as follows: "We have studied the award system here from every angle, and discussed the proposed changes for months. The Coaches have been interviewed and much time given the matter. The board believes that the new rules are fair to all. The entire system has been balanced, with consideration given all sports along the lines of prestige, age, student support, character and national popularity."

By making it possible for all athletes to earn an official "W", the Board has made the junior letter the second award in all sports. While the old "A's" were an insignificant honor, considerable importance has been attached to the new junior "W". It will be the chief award for "B" team competition, and itsearer will not be branded as inferior in ability but only as lacking in time or point requirements.

Bill Tilden Awarded "P" By U. Of Pennsylvania

NEW YORK — One of the interesting moments of that "P" varsity dinner at Weighman hall this week in Philadelphia — an annual function at which University of Pennsylvania athletes, who have made the varsity in the preceding twelve months, receive their letters — was the award of the honorary magna to Big Bill Tilden.

Tilden, who was a student in the school of finance, class of 1915, left college before graduation. But while he was there he won the honor of being elected captain of the university lawn tennis team.

They did not give letters for tennis in Bill's day — do not now, for that matter — but the feeling among Penn authorities was that this lanky son of old Penn had cut a figure in lawn tennis warranting the highest honor that could be bestowed upon him.

Receiving it, Tilden looked and acted as though this were by no means the least important distinction that had been conferred upon him in his long and distinguished career upon the tennis court.

In college Tilden showed little promise of developing into the lustrous racket wielder that he eventually became. He played a good workmanlike game but was by no means so proficient as his brother, Herbert, who, it is believed would have been even a greater player than his younger brother had he lived.

The dinner in all its phases was an interesting and inspiring affair and not the least significant incident was the spectacle of Bill Bingham of Harvard, Bill Roper of Princeton, and Lou Young of Pennsylvania amiable hobnobbing in the hour preceding the dinner. Representing three universities whose athletic relations with one another have not been symbolic of that good feeling which competitive sport should foster, it was quite evident that if these men had their say conditions would be different.

In fact Bill Roper said forthrightly that Princeton ought to be playing football against Penn and he hoped this eventually would come to pass, while Bill Bingham prophesied that the time would come when Harvard and Princeton would again be exchanging diving tackles on the gridiron.

Among the likely men, who played on Freshman teams or had not appeared before, were Russell Rehholz, brother of the varsity fullback; Russ Sport, giant Texan, and Walter Gnabich, Chicago, sophomore fullback; hopes; Liethen, center; "Pip" Nelson, former Madison Central quarterback; Harold Smith, Freeport, lineman; Walter Graebner, Wausau, back; Bach, Minneapolis star; Nello Pacetti, Kenosha, back, and Arnold Herber, Green Bay, quarter.

Among the regulars from last year were Gantenbein, end; Casey, end; Harold Rehholz, fullback; and Capt. Parks were in uniform.

TOLZMAN TO CAPTAIN FOND DU LAC CAGERS

Fond du Lac — Charles Tolzman, who played guard in most of the games with Fond du Lac High school this year will captain next year's Red and White basketball squad as the result of an election held at the senior high school by the 1928-29 let-termen.

Tolzman, who is a Junior, played in most of the Fond du Lac games this year and is considered among the leading guards in the conference. With this year's conference schedule closed and with Fond du Lac finishing fifth, Coach E. D. Fruth is already making plans for next season. All members of the squad will report for regular practice next week to go through regular drills so that they may be in shape for next year.

Two of the best players on this year's squad, Red Kennedy and Calhoun, will be lost by graduation. Kennedy was, without doubt, the best forward in the conference and was listed among the five leading scorers at the end of the season.

New York — Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., outpointed Joey Kauffman, New York (10).

"My Thirty Years at Sea"

By CAPTAIN GEORGE FRIED

Thirty years is a long time to roam the seas and Fried says he feels he will be ready to retire after a few more. He wants to buy a small home in the country, read books, and putter in a garden. One ambition is to cross the ocean as a passenger—while some other captain worries over the safety of the ship and his passengers. He closes his story doubting that any of the sea's romance has passed with modern innovations.

BY CAPT. GEORGE FRIED (Copyright, 1929, Associated Press) Chapter XXV

After having served 30 years, I feel that in a few years I will be ready to retire from the sea. If I had remained in the Navy during this period I would be ready for retirement now, but having gone into the Merchant Marine I am not compelled to give up my career as long as I am able to execute my duties satisfactorily for my employer. I can decide for myself when it is time to quit, but I have no definite ideas at the present time, as I still am in perfect mental and physical health.

There is a great personal satisfaction for me in knowing that the years I have spent at sea have not been in vain; that I have done my share in a small way to keep together a nucleus that can be developed into a merchant marine.

When I make up my mind to retire, I plan to buy a small home in the country and for a year or so, do nothing except possibly read good books and putter around in the garden. During my stay in port, I spend much of my time, in fact practically all of it, in a big easy chair, watching the traffic go up and down Broadway and reading books.

In the evenings, Mrs. Fried and myself remain at home listening to the radio, reading or entertaining friends, but I hardly leave the house unless I absolutely have to. I suppose I am no different from the average sailor who, when he has a home he loves it, and wants to spend as much of his time enjoying it.

Mrs. Fried and myself have not been blessed with children, but we both love little tots dearly. One of the greatest pleasures I get on shipboard is seeing that the children traveling as passengers do not get lonesome nor are neglected in the way of entertainment. Sometimes a youngster is sent across the ocean alone, and frequently is left in the care of the captain. In cases like these, I always assign some stewardess to take care of the child and whenever possible I have it in my room and let it play to its heart's content.

And some day, after having enjoyed a complete rest, I am going to take an ocean voyage as a passenger. I have carried thousands of passengers, but I have never yet traveled abroad ship as a passenger myself. This will certainly be a unique experience for me and, of course, Mrs. Fried will accompany me.

W. C. T. U. IS WARY OF CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT

Madison—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Wayman Warren, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, has filed with the secretary of state the names of officers of her organization, in order to be clear of the corrupt practices act which calls for the filing of names of any organization backing a candidate or issue in any election.

Mrs. Warren's filing was made after appearance of front page display in the Sheboygan Press calling attention to the law, and printing a copy of a pamphlet being distributed by the dry organization in its campaign for "no" votes in the April "Duncan referendum." The pamphlet called attention to the election of Herbert Hoover and his Wisconsin associates, and quoted from the President's remarks on the wet and dry question.

The corrupt practices act says "any association, organization, which advocates, indorses or opposes any political party faction or club, any constitutional amendment or measure to be voted by the people, shall, before making any expenditures or receiving contributions, file a verified statement giving the name and address of each of its officers."

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

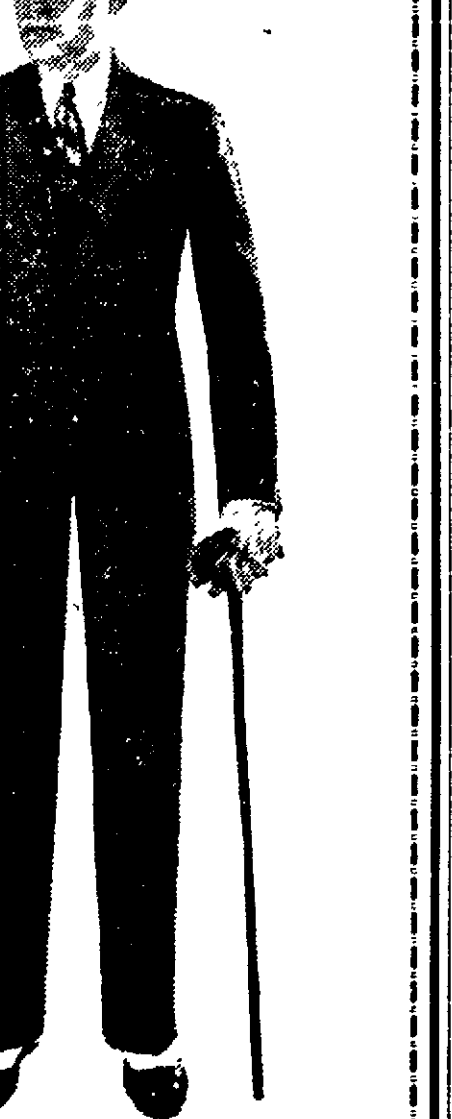

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady, nerveless, radiant woman you once were. Take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals and before going to bed and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Let's BEGIN Repealing Prohibition By Repealing The STATE Dry Law

Most people of Wisconsin are convinced that Prohibition is a Rank Failure. Four years ago they petitioned Congress to Liberalize the Prohibition Laws. NOTHING HAPPENED, because CONGRESS GAVE NOT THE SLIGHTEST HEED TO THAT PETITION. Two years ago Wisconsin again petitioned Congress for relief from the intolerable Volstead Act. AGAIN NOTHING HAPPENED, EXCEPT A SLAP IN THE FACE—a severer law—the Jones Act.

Now, Here Is A Chance To Show Congress We Mean Business

Let us Join New York, Montana and Nevada who have repealed their State laws, and Maryland, which never had one, and form a glorious group of original five states which like the original thirteen colonies, will LEAD THE WAY OUT OF TYRANNY to FREEDOM. Other States will soon follow and ultimately National Prohibition will crumble

The Way To National Repeal Is Through State Repeal . . .

State Prohibition Laws operate to violate the letter and spirit of the Constitution of the United States, which guarantees us FROM BEING TRIED FOR THE SAME OFFENSE. As long as we have a State Prohibition Law the State Court may try and punish us for a State violation, and then the Federal Government may step in and in addition try and punish us in a Federal Court for the same offense. Therefore, the State Law constitutes a lure through which a citizen may be trapped into punishment under the vicious Jones (5 and 10) Act, that is, he may be arrested by a State Officer under the State Law, punished under the State Law by a small fine or light sentence, and then he may be pounced upon by the Federal Officers, tried in a Federal Court and put in jail for five years and fined Ten Thousand Dollars. INNOCENT CITIZENS, who fall under suspicion, ARE SUBJECT TO THIS PERIL. State Prohibition Acts mean confusion and divided authority, for TWO LAWS dealing with the same subject, have to be administered by TWO COURTS and TWO SETS OF ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS OR POLICE.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Ruth Lester, secretary, of the body of her employer, "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, Monday morning, sprawled beneath the shaft window of his private office. He was shot between one and five Saturday afternoon.

McMANN, detective sergeant, questions the following suspects: Mrs. BORDEN, Borden's estranged wife and mother of his two children; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, with whom Borden was infatuated; and JACK HAYWARD, Ruth's fiancé, whose office is across the narrow shaft from Borden's. Jack's guilt seems confirmed by the testimony of elevator boy MICKY MORAN and OTTO PFLEGER, and of BILL COWAN, Jack's friend who says he heard Jack threaten Borden's life Saturday morning when he saw Borden struggling with Ruth in the opposite office.

McMann sends detectives to bring in CLEO GILMAN, Borden's discarded mistress, and JAKE BAILEY, his bodyguard. Meanwhile he quizzes BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy; ASHE, his manservant; MINNIE CASSIDY and LETTY MILLER, seventh floor scrub-women.

A new scar in the wall outside Jack's window and a flat bullet found on the cement floor below convince McMann Borden fired in self-defense at his murderer who stood in Jack's window. Ashe's and Minnie's testimony about some mysterious woman with a contract voice whom Borden feared, causes Jack to recall a MARTHA MANNING who called on him about insurance but who was more interested in Borden's offices across the shaft.

Ruth goes to Mrs. Borden's early next morning and asks her if she knows Martha Manning and is answered with a haughty, significant negative. Ruth next calls on Minnie to ask her if she remembers seeing in Borden's office a basket of an orchid-tinted envelope which Borden received in Saturday's mail. Minnie says she saw it in a drawer of the desk, but Ruth knows McMann has searched the desk and that no such letter was found.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXVI
"But, I tell you," Mr. McMann, there must be another drawer," Ruth Lester insisted. She had arrived at the murdered man's office at half-past 10 and had almost automatically brushed aside the detective sergeant's brusque inquiries as to the chase she had led the plainclothesman who had been assigned to the task of "shadowing" her.

Minnie Cassidy described the drawer as no deeper than a case knife is broad and insists that it was pulled out in front of Mr. Borden as he sat at his desk. She had to pass directly behind him to get to his wastebasket and his obvious anger—pounding on the edge of the drawer with his clenched fist—aroused her curiosity, so that she looked over his shoulder as she passed. He was evidently re-reading the letter after he had read it once and put away in the drawer. Minnie is positive that it was a sheet of orchid-tinted notepaper, closely written in violet ink.

"Then why the devil didn't she say something about it when I questioned her?" the detective grumbled. But he pulled out the two-inch deep middle drawer of the desk and stooping, inserted a hand and tapped against the roof of the cavity exposed. A hollow sound rewarded him. "You're right. There's a drawer above this one, a secret drawer. And no apparent means of opening it."

"Let me try," Ruth suggested and began to press her fingers against the elaborately carved strip of walnut which was undoubtedly the front end of the secret drawer, though it appeared to be only the edge of the desk top. Her efforts met with failure until her fingers pressed hard upon a carved leaf directly above the right corner of the unconcealed middle drawer. The carved strip swung slowly inward, revealing a shallow drawer less than an inch deep. Triumphant, the girl pulled it out. There was not one orchid-tinted letter, but six of them, with the last received on top, at the front of the little drawer.

"Don't destroy fingerprints!" McMann warned Ruth. "Here—let me handle it." And with infinite caution the detective drew the letter from its large, square envelope, touching only one corner of the sheet as he shook it out and laid it on the blotter of the dead man's desk.

"May I read it?" Ruth begged, and as the detective grunted assent their two heads bent over the exhibit which Ruth had brought to light. There was a single sheet of notepaper, closely written on both sides.

"Harry, my darling," the letter began, below the two words, Friday afternoon: "After what happened between us on Christmas Eve, I assure that I would never appeal to you again. Oh, Harry, to think that you could strike me and curse me, after all the happiness we have known together! But my pride—which was one of the qualities you admired most in me, you used to say—has been leveled to the dust. I would rather die than ask you for anything for myself, Harry, but when our son is concerned I have no pride—only love and a ghastly fear for his future. He is your son, Harry—as much your child as Betty and Harry, Junior. It was your own suggestion that I place him in boarding school last September, so that he might have his chance of a normal little boy's upbringing and education. You promised (due to pay for his board and tuition, but—"

"Enlightened!" McMann grunted at Ruth as she nodded mutely, he traced the sheet over.

Ruth's tear-misted eyes resolutely kept the signature to the last line of the never came. Almost the word I had in the world went to pay for his half-year, and now—headquarters send somebody for Letty Miller, one of those scrubwomen I was interviewing yesterday. They don't come on till four o'clock, and I don't care to wait till then."

"Yes, sir," Birdwell answered. "Did you get the Miller woman's address, sir? You remember we couldn't find her yesterday morning. She'd moved from the rooming-house address the superintendent gave us—"

"Oh, damn!" McMann exploded. "I forgot to ask her. See if Coghlan, the superintendent, did. It's his job to keep up with his employees' various changes of address—"

"Yes, sir. Just a minute, sir," Birdwell interrupted his chief, as the telephone rang. He listened for a moment, then turned to McMann: "It's Clay, sir. He's bringing the Gilman woman in. He says she's just returned to her apartment. He's telephoning from her apartment now."

"Good! Tell Clay to make it snappy," McMann directed. Then when his subordinate had concluded the telephone conversation, "Any line yet on Jake Bailey, Borden's bodyguard?"

"No, sir. I'll get hold of Carlson now and send him after this Manning woman."

Fifteen minutes later, while Detective Sergeant McMann and Ruth Lester were still engaged in reading the six passionate, despairing, plaintive appeals for a vanished love which Martha Manning had written to Harry Borden, the woman who had taken that love from her was announced: Miss Gilman and Detective Clay, sir."

"Show Miss Gilman in here. I'll speak to Clay out there," McMann directed, and a moment later the detective in charge of the investigation and a tall, magnificently proportioned blond woman passed each other in the doorway.

"Hullo!" Cleo Gilman sang out cheerily, in her slightly nasal, high-pitched voice. As the detective pushed on through the door without answering, except with one keen, measuring glance, the blond woman shrugged, and addressed Ruth Lester, who was seated at Borden's desk: "I always did love these strange, silent men. Hawkshaw, the demon detective, I suppose?" she laughed, strolling with exaggerated nonchalance to a chair near Ruth's, and disposing her voluptuous body in it.

"Yes," Ruth smiled. "Or, to be accurate, Detective Sergeant McMann, in charge of the investigation into the murder of your late friend."

"Meow!" Cleo chided, as she took a cigarette from a lovely black and green enameled case which, Ruth knew, had been one of Harry Borden's Christmas gifts. "Poor old 'Handsome Harry'! I was always afraid he'd come to some bad end. . . . But what have you done to yourself, darling? You are the priceless pearl of a secretary, aren't you? But I seem to remember you as a timid little slavey, with horn-rimmed spectacles, and your hair dragged into a knot on your neck. I wonder. I wonder. . . . And yet I'd been led to believe that it was the fascinating Rita who had— Oh, Hawkshaw!" And Cleo rounded her seductive lips to blow a cloud of smoke toward the returning detective.

McMann, pretending not to hear, strode to Borden's desk, took his seat opposite Ruth, poised his pencil over a pad of scratch paper. "Well, when did you see Borden last, Cleo?"

"Miss Gilman—to you, darling—" just until we know each other a little better," Cleo Gilman drawled, arching her brows. "Don't scowl so, Hawkshaw. I'm sure you'd be an awfully attractive man, if you'd just cultivate a jolly smile. . . . Oh, very well! If you don't want to be sociable— You asked when I last saw Harry, I believe. Well, let me think—" and she regarded the burning lip of her cigarette with a charming frown.

"Last Saturday, wasn't it?" McMann barked.

Cleo Gilman's carefree laugh rang out. "Poor Hawkshaw! You must be terribly hard up for a suspect if you've picked on me! No—I'm awfully sorry to disappoint you, but I haven't seen 'Handsome Harry' since January second. He dropped in to pay the rent on the apartment and to break the sad news to me that all was over between us."

"Just like that, eh?" McMann growled. "I suppose you quarreled?"

"Oh," Cleo shrugged and smiled, "just enough to give the old boy a good time. It would have hurt his feelings if I hadn't pulled the 'you-

done-me-wrong" line, but to tell you the truth, darling, I wasn't at all sorry—saved me a lot of trouble, for

I was really awfully busy on a new enterprise—"

"Just where were you last Saturday, after leaving your apartment at noon with your baggage?" McMann cut in impatiently.

"Now, now!" Cleo shook her charming head at the detective reproachfully. "You're spoiling an awfully good story with your crude importunities. There! I've been aching to use that word—importunities. I've just learned it, you know. . . . Yes, yes, darling! I realize you want to know where I was Saturday afternoon, but I'm trying to break it to you gently. Large, bad-tempered men, who are not so young are so likely to go off like that—with poppley. All right, Hawkshaw, I'll tell you, but you can't say I didn't warn you—"

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real anilines. That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market! Cost more to make? Sure. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look; of streaking or spotting. See that they take none of the life out of the cloth. Observe how the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree. Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy: The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

G. A. SELL, NEW COUNTY AGENT, TO PUSH 4-H CLUB WORK

COOPERATION OF TEACHERS SOUGHT IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Instructors Urged to Urge Self Development Among Young People

ALTHOUGH G. A. Sell, Outagamie-co's newly appointed agricultural agent, will not officially assume his duties here until April 1, he already has introduced himself, through letter, to the rural school teachers of the county in an effort to enlist their aid in contemplated 4-H club work.

Mr. Sell announced that he intends to make a regular feature of his work that of aiding teachers in their agricultural instruction classes by sending frequent bulletins and holding demonstrations and in other manners.

The promotion and enlargement of 4-H club work, Mr. Sell says, is one of the first jobs assigned him by the county agricultural committee and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, will cooperate in the work.

To begin the drive Mr. Sell petitions the teachers to bring the attention of the young folks in their schools and community to the opportunities for self-development in 4-H club work. After talking the matter over with pupils, Mr. Sell suggests that the teachers send him a list of the names and addresses of the students interested. He has sent to each teacher a blank for returning the name of prospective club members and also for suggesting a prospective club leader.

STUDY PLAY TOGETHER
Four-H clubs, Mr. Sell points out, are groups of boys and girls organized with their own officers, constitution and by-laws. They meet, study and play together under the guidance of an adult leader. Every member raises one or more calves as well as possible and tries to show others how he does it.

In case there was a 4-H club in a community last year, Mr. Sell asks the teacher to cooperate with the leader in an attempt to build up the membership.

The purposes of 4-H clubs are as follows, according to Mr. Sell:
To interest boys and girls in farm, home and community problems.
To teach them the best known methods of calf raising.
To assist them to demonstrate these methods to their neighbors with the aim of inducing more people to raise better calves.

To assist the home and school to develop ambition, self-reliance, dependability, resourcefulness, integrity and all that makes for the highest type of American citizenship.

Rules governing calf clubs follow:
Any boy or girl 10 to 20 years of age inclusive, may join a club by agreeing to undertake the raising of one or more good calves; keep a record of feed costs, time, etc., devoted to the project; write a short story or make a project book on the work; make an exhibit at the county school or fair; hand in a balanced record book and essay by Oct. 1.

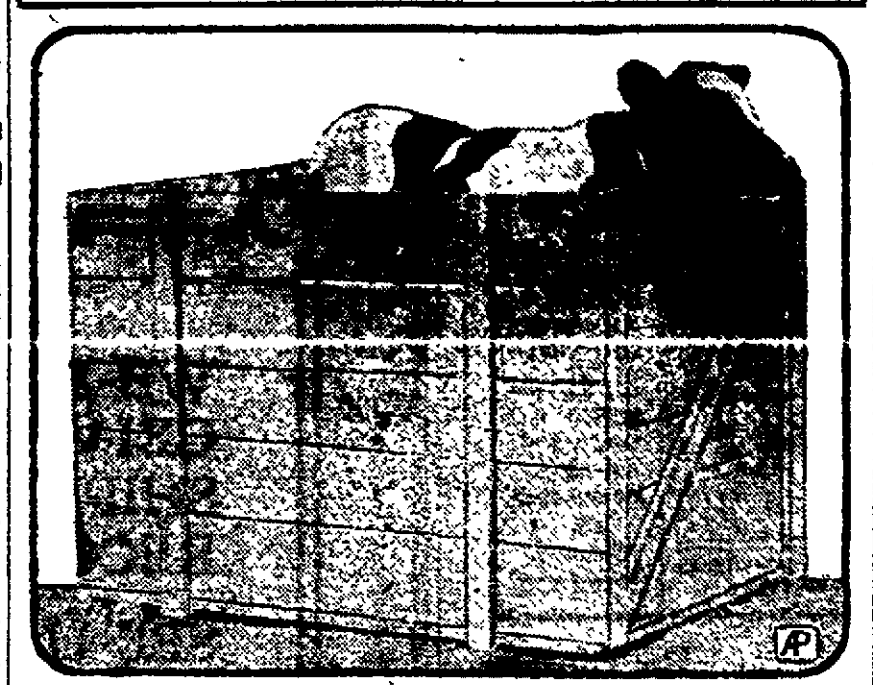

DEFINES SENIOR CALF
A senior calf, or one born between Aug. 1, 1928, and Feb. 1, 1929, must be cared for by the member for at least five months and should not be over 14 weeks old when the project is started.

A junior calf, or one born after Feb. 1, 1929, must be cared for by the member for at least three months and should be over eight weeks old when the project begins.

When the calf should be the property of the club member, whether acquired by gift or purchase, it does not matter. The important thing is ownership. It encourages responsibility by the member for the calf and gives much more satisfaction than just dad's calf.

Either grade or pure bred calves may be used.

Live In "Apartments"

Calves at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station spend the first two months of their lives in a box, segregated from other calves and older livestock from which they contract diseases.

New Brunswick, N. J. — (P) — It is for a calf at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station to try to be a "regular feller." He has to be a little Lord Fauntleroy and live in a packing box—"an apartment," the college professors call it.

The whole thing started last year when young stock contracted parasites and diseases by running around loose in the barn. Dairywomen decided young calves didn't need exercise half as much as they needed sanitation, and 22 newcomers at the station cattle barn were put in individual boxes obtained from dry goods stores.

They were taken from their mother when when from two to four days of age and kept there until six weeks or two months old. The boxes, four feet long, three feet wide and deep enough to keep the calves from jumping out, were placed in rows, just far enough apart to keep the calves from touching each other.

Prof. J. W. Bartlett, dairy husbandman, says that when the calves ran together they developed distemper about the end of the second week. The disease usually was not fatal, but very often many contracted calf pneumonia. Since the "apartment house" idea has been used there have been only two cases of distemper. When removed from the boxes the calves thrived in community pens, where originally every calf either had distemper or died.

GREENVILLE CREW IS FIRST TO WORK ROADS

Greenville — If Henry Mauteufel, pattern maker, Harvey Culbertson and L. Schmitt, all of the Schaeffer road district, comprise the first crew to patrol the roads in Outagamie county this spring. As a result of some work on the roads of the district which were soft and deeply rutted with rutts, this crew with the assistance of the sun and south winds, has made the roads passable and in good condition for this time of the year. The crew is using a road scraper drawn by four horses to smooth the surface, and shovels to open clogged drains along the fences.

LITTER CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED BY BROWN-CO AGENT

First Prize Is $40, Second Prize Is $30, and Third Is $20

BY W. F. WINSEY
A ton litter contest for the North-eastern Wisconsin Fair, in which any hog breeder in Brown-co or adjacent counties is eligible to enter one litter, is announced by County Agent J. N. Kavanaugh. The cash awards are: First, $40; second, $30; and third, $20.

Some of the entry conditions are: (1) The litter must be sired by a registered boar. (2) Litters farrowed between Feb. 1 and July 1 are eligible for entry. (3) Litters must be nominated and ear marked within 10 days after date of farrowing. (4) The owner shall nominate the litter on special cards provided for this purpose, showing the ear marks, date of farrowing, and number of boar and sow pigs in the litter. (5) The nomination cards shall be made in duplicate and sent to J. N. Kavanaugh, Green Bay, Wisconsin.

(6) The litters shall be inspected and markings verified as soon as possible by the county agent, or in counties where there is no agent, by a party to be appointed by Mr. Kavanaugh. (7) The inspection of litters must be completed by July 15, 1929. (8) Pigs to the litter raised by hand or on other sows cannot be included in the final weight of the litter. (9) Owners are asked to keep a memorandum of the ration fed to sows during the gestation and suckling periods and a memorandum of the ration fed to the pigs from weaning time to six months.

(10) The litters shall be weighed on the farm on August 20, 1929. If this is not possible, they may be weighed within three days preceding or following that day, and the weight at 180 days will be figured by the sliding scale. (11) The litter shall be weighed by the county agent or by a committee of two or more disinterested persons selected by the county agent or in counties without agents, by a committee appointed by Mr. Kavanaugh.

Growing chicks and laying hens need comfortable houses that are dry and roomy and have plenty of fresh air and sunlight.

Young fruit trees loosened at the base by much weeding in the spring should be staked until they obtain sufficient "root-hold" to maintain themselves to drive a stake on either side, and tie the tree to them with a strip of burlap or some similar material that will not girdle the tree as it expands in growth. If the trees are loosened by a single severe windstorm, soil should be packed firmly in the opening around the base.

Innovations have been made in planters now on the market. Three row corn planters are built as attachments for tractors and are operated from the tractor seat. Four and six-row corn and cotton planters are used as a single unit.

One way to insure a uniform supply of milk throughout the year is to have a larger proportion of cows fresh in the fall and early winter. This stimulates production of milk when the price normally is higher, and permits sufficient production in summer when cows are on pasture. A large surplus of milk in summer results not only in much lower prices for milk and butter during that season, but also in reduced returns for the year.

Range herds of breeding cattle should be limited to the number the range can support in "lean" years rather than in "fat" years. Overstocking is one of the main factors in losses from starvation.

FARMERS FINDING KEEN INTEREST IN PRACTICE GROUPS

Believe Organizations Help Youth to Develop Skill, Leadership

BY W. F. WINSEY
Seymour — Farmers are becoming more and more interested in organizations that have for their objects skill in the better methods of producing a farm product, for their sons and daughters, in community leadership, in business practices, and in making money out of a farm project to finance an education.

The Smith-Hughes department of high schools and 4-H clubs are on the crest of public favor at the present time for the reason that a pupil or a member exerts his ability to succeed with some farm object selected from a list that is commensurate with farm activities, makes money to go to high school or college to get the education that all future farmers must have to succeed on the farms.

The 4-H club was selected by Herbert Tubbs in 1924 for his children, John, Frank, and Joyce, and the children chose calves for their projects. The suggestion came to Mr. Tubbs from William Radin, a cow tester, who in 1921 began organizing the boys and girls in his cow testing district about Seymour into calf clubs, and supervising the work of the members.

Mr. Tubbs, however, carried the Radin plan a step farther and informed his sons, John and Frank, that they might select the two best cows in his herd, and when the time came each boy might have the calf of the cow he selected as his own property, to raise, and to exhibit at the fairs in competition. He promised the boys that they might raise the offspring of these calves to show like a fair, and that when they were ready to go to college, he would buy their cows, heifers and calves from them and that they might use the money to pay the costs of their education.

BOTH DEMANDED CALVES
When Fay and Joyce came along, not to be outdone by their brothers, they both demanded calves and got them. Thinking that Fay might not enjoy being tied down to a long-time contract for a calf that she had earned by raising milk utensils in the dairy and helping with the care of the herd, raised and showed at the county fairs last fall, her dad took compassion on her and offered a good round figure for her calf in the stable one morning. Without confab or any sign of dickering, Fay made a bee line for the house. Not knowing the effect of the offer nor the reason for her flight, her dad followed her at a much shorter pace. The surprise of her dad reached the explosive stage when he found Fay taking her own measure for a calf, and he quickly resuscitated tape line. To start Joyce off on the line of getting practice in dairying and making money to keep up with the changing fashion, Fay, in delight at her own experience, gave Joyce a calf last spring.

As the mother of his first calf for 4-H club work, John selected a pure bred Holstein. He showed his calf at the Seymour and Northeastern Wisconsin fairs and with the premium money, bought two pure bred Oxford sheep. The first year in the sheep business, John lost his lambs, and the second both of the lambs were bucks. The wool from his sheep, sold to his father for home use, has been the source of a very pleasing income, however.

The second year in the 4-H club work, the boys showed two of their dad's animals in the open classes. The third year they showed calves of their first calves at the Seymour Fair and did very well in the line of premiums. After the fair, each boy had a calf to sell and another to raise. They took their surplus calves to town, sold them and bought suits of clothes.

This year Fred sold one calf and is raising another as a calf club project. John has a calf from his first cow for calf club work this year. John, Fred, Fay and Joyce, will be seen at the fairs this fall to prove that 4-H Club work is an interesting and profitable line for boys and girls.

William Radin planned well in 1923 for their entertainment, profit and education.

Old pastures, rapidly declining for want of care, may be rejuvenated by a mixture of clover seed applied early in the spring, according to G. A. Mortimer, state agronomist. The treatment has immediate effect, with the result that the pasture may be grazed the same year.

The mixture consists of equal parts of white and alsike clovers, and is applied at the rate of ten to twelve pounds an acre. The seed should always be inoculated.

Mr. Mortimer says the seed should be sown as early as possible, because it goes into the soil earlier during the period the surface of the ground is freezing and thawing alternately.

This is only a temporary relief measure said Mr. Mortimer, but its effects are often very beneficial. The pasture need not be laid aside for the season after the reseeded for the habits of these two clovers are such that grazing the same year the seedling is done does not seriously injure them.

ELECT DIRECTORS OF BLACK CREEK CREAMERY

Black Creek — The annual meeting of the Black Creek Cooperative Creamery company was held Thursday at the village hall. One newly elected director is Arnold Stephan.

Honored

The highest honor that can be conferred on an agricultural scientist of the south, that of president of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers, has recently been given Dr. Wilmon Newell, Dr. Newell is dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Florida at Gainesville. The association is composed of agricultural officials of the south.

FARMER INTENDS TO RAISE SUDAN GRASS ONCE MORE

Oswald Schneider Will Give Emergency Hay Crop Another Trial

BY W. F. WINSEY
Although Oswald Schneider, route 1, is not overjoyed with his emergency hay crop of Sudan grass and often shook his head when describing his experience with the new kind of feed, he says that under similar conditions, he may try the crop again.

Whatever trouble he had with his Sudan grass was not due to a thin stand, short growth nor to bad weather at haying time. On the contrary, the yield was exceedingly heavy and the haying weather was perfect during the harvesting of the crop. But despite the favorable conditions of weather and growth, it was impossible in a week's time to cure the Sudan grass sufficiently to prevent mold in the mow.

In case of a second trial of Sudan grass, Mr. Schneider will sow his seed considerably thicker in the hope of producing a finer stalk and harvesting the crop before the stalks get as rank and woody as they did last fall.

The loss of ten acres of alfalfa by winterkilling induced Mr. Schneider to plant five acres of the field in the spring with Sudan grass and the other five acres with corn. He says he got more feed from the corn than from the Sudan grass, and better feed because some of the Sudan grass molded in the mow.

He now has three acres of old alfalfa seedling and 14 acres of new seedling. Both stands were green and showed signs of vigorous growth and great promise on March 21. Nothing but hard freezing and thawing can injure the stands from this time on.

FARM FACTS

Still on the upward trend, the index of the general level of farm prices advanced from 133 to 136 per cent of the pre-war level from January 15 to February 15. This is the highest February figure since 1926.

Higher grain prices, fruits and vegetables, cotton, hogs, lambs, chickens and turkeys, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

More than 2,000,000 cattle were on the waiting list for tuberculosis test at the end of 1928, according to the Department of Agriculture. More than 600 counties in the United States are now listed as "modified accredited areas," meaning that they are practically free from bovine tuberculosis.

During 1928, Wisconsin tested 1,562,359 head of cattle for bovine tuberculosis. That is more than the entire United States tested seven years ago. Thirty-eight counties of Wisconsin are classed as "modified accredited areas."

Carders wood burning in the south accounts for the destruction of about 20,000,000 acres of forest and cut over land annually—nearly 80 per cent of the total forest area burned in the entire country. "What is needed is a more widespread realization that young growing trees have definite money value," says Major R. V. Stewart of the U. S. Forest Service. "Woods burning in the south is directly responsible for losses running into hundreds of thousands of dollars annually."

Movies made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture during 1928 traveled around the world. Of 131 films taken in the last half of the year, 47 were shipped to Mexico, Australia, Japan, India, Turkey, New South Wales, Russia, South Africa and elsewhere. Road-building films received the heaviest demands. Other popular films were those dealing with forestry, livestock, cooperative marketing and dairying.

EXPECT MUCH AT SHORT SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Farmers Hope Congress Will Provide Them With Actual Relief

Farmers the nation over are looking for the coming short session of Congress to provide a relief that will at least greatly lighten many of their pressing farm burdens. In his forceful inaugural address President Hoover assured the expectant farmers that sincere attempts would be made to provide the needed relief at the specially called session. One of the forms this relief will take will be an increase in tariffs on imported farm products and substitutes.

Few farmers realize just what getting even deserved tariff increases implies by way of preliminary effort. These things don't come by guess and by gosh. In every case where farmers have received consideration it has been the result of organized well sustained effort. Thus for example in the present tariff situation it develops that the National Milk Producers' Federation an organization representing 300,000 dairymen, who are members of about fifty cooperatives similar in character to the National Cheese Producers' Federation, has been working for months on the proposition.

Its statisticians have been collecting and classifying material and getting it in shape for quick and forceful presentation to the proper committees. The entire matter of desired dairy tariff schedules was presented to the Ways and Means committee of Congress, at a late January session of the committee. One speaker appeared for each product. Mr. Cornelia of the National Cheese Producers' Federation appeared for cheese. That the organized farmers were equal to the occasion is proven by a report to the effect that the briefs were presented in a way that attracted the respect and attention of the Ways and Means Committee.

There was no conflict among organized dairymen as to what the schedule should be. Representing the greatest industry in the United States they were so in accord in their ideas and so well prepared to present their testimony that its presentation occupied less than two hours of the Ways and Means Committee's time.

While the benefits of increased tariffs on farm imports will accrue equally to all farmers it must be conceded that whatever is accomplished will be through the efforts of the organized groups like the Cheese Federation, Land O'Lakes and others working untiringly through the National Milk Producers' Federation.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

TELLS WORLD ABOUT DAIRY'S GREATEST MEN IN COUNTRY.

San Francisco—In a series of monthly radio talks over KGO, Oakland, the California Dairy Council is presenting the stories of those whom it believes to be the greatest men in the dairy industry.

The talks so far have included Louis Pasteur, French bacteriologist who perfected the method of pasteurizing milk; S. H. Babcock, University of Wisconsin professor whose simple test for fat in dairy products brought improvements in farm and factory methods; Gustaf DeLaval, Swedish engineer who devised the continuous method for separation of milk and cream; Elmer V. McCollum, biological chemist who contributed to the knowledge of food values of dairy products; William D. Hoard, statesman and farm journalist, who supplied the leadership needed during a critical period of the industry; William Harley, Scottish breeder and milk distributor who developed market milk-distribution.

and other National farm cooperatives.

A few of the increases called for on dairy products are as follows:
1. Cheese and substitutes: therefore: cheddar from 5 cents per pound to 8 cents; Swiss from 7 1/2 cents to 12, processed cheese 15 cents, but not less than 50 per cent ad valorem; cheese mixtures and substitutes 15 cents.

2. Butter from 12 cents up to 15 cents.
3. Cream, from 20 cents per gal. to 60 cents; cream containing more than 45 per cent butterfat dutiable as butter.

4. Milk fresh or sour from 2 1/2 cents per gal. to 3 cents on fresh or sour.
5. Whole milk powder from 3 cents to 10 cents per pound.

GREENVILLE GRANGE GETS CLOVER SEED

$1,800 Worth of Alfalfa and Clover Distributed Among Members

BY W. F. WINSEY
Greenville — Eighteen hundred dollars' worth of alfalfa, sweet clover, red clover, alsike clover and timothy seed, recently ordered by the Greenville Grange of the Dickinson Seed Co., was distributed among members by the Hortonville Milling Co. last week.

The State Grange orders commercial fertilizers in large quantities for the subordinate granges but as there is very little of this kind of fertilizer used by the South Greenville Grange on account of members having a sufficient supply of stable-made fertilizers, the local grange ordered no manufactured fertilizers.

As members of the local grange are well supplied with home-grown seed corn, and seed oats, wheat and barley, none of these seeds were ordered from outside this spring.

Stands of alfalfa, sweet clover, alsike clover, red clover, rye and winter wheat, have come through the winter in splendid condition and now give evidence of a 100 per cent crop.

Book Of Knowledge

Famous Christians

There are hundreds of thousands of hymns in existence. Among the most prolific of the hymn-writers were the Wesley brothers. John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church in England, wrote many hymns and translated many more.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright 1923-24

Charles Wesley, his brother and disciple, is said to have written about sixty-five hundred hymns.

Charles, a great musician, refused a great fortune because he thought the benefactor's family should have it.

Charles Wesley's hymns still are among the noblest verses in the hymnals. Among them are "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Lo, He Comes With Clouds Descending." Charles Wesley was born in 1707 and died when eighty-one.

TAKE STEPS TO BAR DISEASE AFTER FLOOD

Health Officer Outlines Measures to Be Taken to Insure Safety

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Residents of the north side are thus being engaged in cleaning up the accumulation of debris strewn about during the period of high water and left when the water receded and which now constitutes a menace to health. At a meeting of the board of health, Dr. P. Pfeiffer, city health commissioner, outlined steps to be taken to ward off illness which so usually follows a flood. In this discussion it was pointed out that much of the north side trouble was due to backing up of the sewerage system and Dr. Pfeiffer stated that every precaution should be taken to clean every yard as soon as water clears, so that no time may elapse in which a contagious disease may start. Arrangements have been made by the city street commission to collect the debris from the streets before every residence. Residents who get their water supply from fountains are urged not to use this water without first boiling it for a period of 20 minutes, to guard against typhoid fever. The health commissioner also urged timely administration of diphtheria inoculation and other diseases which thrive in low, wet areas.

Proposed Tunnel Under Channel Would Cut London To Paris Time To 6 Hours

Drawing shows one scheme for a tunnel beneath the English channel. London and Paris, views of which are at upper left and right, would be connected by a six-hour rail trip. The running time through the tube would be less than an hour, but the capitals are some distance inland. Sir Robert Perks long has worked for a tunnel. Sir William Bull is its most active proponent in parliament.

London — (AP) — London and Paris will be only six hours apart by train, if the proposed tunnel under the English channel is built. This project, first considered 66 years ago, has received the support of British and French authorities and, provided military officers can be persuaded, will be started shortly, it is believed. The cost of the tube is estimated at from $150,000,000 to $175,000,000.

The turbulent waters of the channel always have served as an effective barrier between the British isles and Europe and various plans have been suggested to overcome the trouble, crossing by boats from Dover to the French coast. Now the public demand for a tunnel seems so imperative that the project now appears nearer of fulfillment than at any time since Napoleon first suggested it in 1802. The French government is in wholehearted approval of immediate construction, and authority for the French section was granted many years ago by the French parliament. In England the sentiment is best expressed by a poll now being taken by Sir William Bull, M. P., parliament's most active proponent of the tube. He is canvassing newspapers, and members of parliament as to their positions. So far he has obtained the following results:
Newspapers in favor of the tunnel, 47; against, none; neutral, six.
House of Lords: peers favoring the project, 109; against, 54; neutral, 101.
House of Commons: members favoring the tunnel, 219; against, 13; neutral, 27.
There are still many peers and members of the house to be heard from, and the objections to the tunnel on the part of the imperial defense committee, which have in the past blocked the project, have not yet been withdrawn. It seems likely, however, that the military authorities will sanction the tunnel since their objections antedate the invention of long range guns and military aircraft.
One of those working hardest for the project is Sir Robert Perks, who at 80 years still is one of the foremost engineers of Great Britain. He is thoroughly familiar with every phase of the tunnel proposition, as he has made a special study of it for many years.
In former days the Alps offered a similar obstacle as do the Straits of Dover to easy travel. Engineers pierced the mountains with a series of famous tunnels. France and Italy are linked together by the Mont

Cents tunnel while the Simplon tunnel joins Italy to Switzerland. Before these two tunnels were built there were due predictions on the part of reactionaries in the respective countries who foretold only grave consequences to the different countries. The immense freight and passenger traffic through these two tunnels has fully justified their construction.
It is estimated that only three quarters of an hour would be required to traverse the proposed channel tunnel. Customs inspections and running time on the land journey on each side of the channel between the two capitals would bring the time required for the whole rail journey to about six hours.
The full force of the present agitation for the tunnel, which is supported even by the railroads, where channel steamers largely would be put out of business, probably will not be felt until after the new parliament assemblies, following the general election in May or June.
Many observers think that the channel tunnel question will be taken up immediately and that in the end the proponents of the project will be rewarded with victory. It already seems to have reached the hand wagon stage with many publicists clamoring for seats near the driver.

GOOD FISHING YEAR SEEN AT FREMONT
Fremont—It was reported that several local fishermen caught pike in the Wolf river at Fremont Sunday. Several boats were on the river and a number of fishermen were located on the bridge. Although early in the year, fishing probably will be good commencing the first part of April.
William Greening lost a Guernsey cow Saturday night when the animal got its neck caught between the stanchions in the barn and choked to death.
Local trappers are busy during the spring fur-bearing season. The price of muskrat hides is high this spring, averaging about $2 each. The animals are reported to be scarce this year.

WOULDN'T ARGUE WITH COP, SO HE WAS SENT TO JAIL

Madison — (AP) — The man who would not contradict a policeman has been found. In fact, he went to jail for it.
He is Sam D. Berger, Gloverville, N. Y., a freshman in the Experimental college at the University of Wisconsin.
Berger was being initiated into a university fraternity this week and was on "silence," under orders from the brothers to speak to no one. The neophyte was doing some mystic task when a Madison policeman questioned him. Berger refused to answer. The officer was a skeptic and arrested the freshman as a vagrant.
After a long night in a cell of the Madison city prison, Berger wrote a note the next day telling the sergeant in charge he was under silence because of initiation. The officer called fraternity members who assured police. Berger was under initiated ordeal. Incidentally, the freshman still is on "silence," so he remains until formal initiation Sunday afternoon.

SHIOCTON CHURCH GROUP PLANNING EASTER PAGEANT

Christian Endeavor to Present "Peans of Victory" Sunday Evening

Special to Post-Crescent
Shiocton — On Sunday evening, March 31, the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church of Shiocton will present an Easter Pageant entitled "Peans of Victory". The subject matter of the pageant is as follows:
The accusation of Jesus and the effort to have him crucified by the chief priests and certain of the people.
The debates with the priests as to whom he shall release until Jesus or the thief.
Joseph of Arimathea goes to the foot of Jesus and places it in his own new tomb.
Mary Magdalene and the other Mary go to the tomb to see the place where Jesus was laid. On their way they converse about Jesus' death and their love for him.
Mary Magdalene sees Jesus when she goes alone to the tomb and gives him a message for his disciples which she carries to them. Lazarus and his two sisters journey to see the risen Lord and take to his relation with the people since His resurrection.
The significance of the cross is portrayed.
Little children bring gifts of love to the foot of the cross.
In the last part of the pageant the people look heavenward to the place where their Master and Lord has disappeared and acclaim Him the Conquering Christ.
Appropriate music is provided throughout the pageant.
The young people of the Christian Endeavor society are trying to aid with the church choruses and they ask those who came to help with a free will offering.
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thorp, entertained the following relatives at their home northwest of this village Sunday the occasion being the seventy-sixth birthday anniversary of the latter. DIDERRICH MUST REMAIN IN RACE, ATTORNEY HOLDS

Alderman from Second Ward Can't Withdraw Name from Ballot

The name of Alderman John D. Diderich, candidate for reelection from the Second ward, must remain on the ballot for the judicial election Tuesday, April 2, according to the opinion filed Tuesday morning with Mayor A. C. Rule by Roger R. Tuttle, acting city attorney.

The opinion points out that Alderman Diderich, who announced Monday that he had decided to withdraw his name from the ballot, had given such notice less than 12 days prior to the election, and that he failed to decline the nomination in writing and file his declaration with the proper city official.

Alderman Diderich's decision was made following his purchase of a residence in the First ward. He expects to move into the First ward home next May, and would be re-elected to the council, he would become ineligible to hold the office when he changed residences. In view of these facts, he said he believed he ought to withdraw from the race now before the election. He added he did not have the purchase under consideration more than a few days, and that his announcement was made immediately following completion of the transaction.

The opinion received by Mayor Rule follows:

STATEMENT OF FACTS

John Diderich and George Earl were nominated as candidates for alderman from the Second ward at the city primary election held in March, 1928. Printing of the ballots was commenced on Saturday, March 23, 1929, and will be completed Tuesday, March 26, on March 25, 1929, seven days before the final election to be held Tuesday, April 2. John Diderich verbally announced that he declined to run for the office.

- QUESTIONS
1. Can Diderich decline the nomination at the time and in the manner in which he did?
 2. What, if any, action should the mayor take in view of the circumstances?
 3. Should Diderich's name be left upon the ballot?

The first question must be answered in the negative. Section 5.23 Wisconsin Statutes 1927 provides as follows: "Any person nominated to office may decline and annul the same by delivery to the officer with whom his certificate of nomination or nomination papers is filed, not less than 12 days before election in case of city officers..."

It is a familiar rule of statutory construction that an expression of one means operates as an exclusion of others. Mr. Diderich's attempt to decline the nomination was made less than 12 days before the election, and was not made in the form prescribed by law. It follows that the nomination of him to the office is valid. He is in a position to take such action as he sees fit toward assuming or resigning the office.

2. The mayor is under no duty to act in the premises.

3. Mr. Diderich's name must remain upon the ballot.

RAINBOW VETERANS TO KEEP COTTAGE AT LAKE

Members of the Rainbow Veterans organization, at a meeting Monday night at the armory, voted to keep its cottage on Lake Winnebago at Menasha. The ex-soldiers are planning a booster meeting at the cottage when plans will be made to clear the deficit now existing and to improve the cottage. Fifteen of the members volunteered to spend Sunday, April 7, in painting the cottage. The building was redecorated. After the business meeting a lunch was served by Mrs. Theodore Albrecht.

GOCHEY'S BODY TO BE SENT TO DULUTH, MINN.

The body of M. J. Gochey, 55, which was found in the river at Kaukauna Monday morning, was to be shipped to Duluth, Minn., Tuesday night, his former home. It is expected that funeral services will be held there as Gochey's widow and family are living there.

Gochey was believed to have committed suicide by jumping into the Fox river from the Lawest bridge on the night of Feb. 2. He disappeared on that date and was not seen until his body was taken from the river at Kaukauna Monday. On the day he disappeared he left notes at his home concerning disposition of his life insurance. Financial reverses are believed to have led him to commit the act.

Gochey came to Appleton a short time before his disappearance and he had been employed as sales manager at the Appleton Superior Knitting works.

WANTS LOT PLACED IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

The petition of E. J. Walsh to place a lot in the Sixth ward in the local business district was to be acted on by the planning commission at a meeting at the city hall Tuesday afternoon. The lot in question is located at 1315 N. Meade-st. and the owner wishes to conduct a shoe repair shop and store there. The commission also was to receive plans for the Kubitz plot located in the town of Grand Chute just outside the northeast limits of the city. Plans located within a mile of the city limits must be approved by the city planning commission.

Winds are shifting in the south and southwest promising warmer weather. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 34 degrees above zero and at noon the thermometer stood at 43 degrees above zero.

WINS $28 DAMAGES IN ASSAULT CASE

Kaukauna Man Sued for $1,000; Cost Totals More Than Judgment

Deliberating only a half hour a jury in the upper branch of municipal court Monday afternoon awarded Charles Gorchals, Kaukauna, $28.35 damages from J. T. Jacobs, Kimberly soft drink parlor proprietor. Gorchals had sued for $1,000 charging he suffered personal injuries as a result of being thrown out of Jacobs' place at Kimberly last June.

Gorchals' ejection followed an argument during which Jacobs ordered the Kaukauna man to leave the place and he refused to do so. Jacobs said he forcibly ejected him, using no more force than necessary. Jacobs was arrested shortly after the affair and paid a fine of $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty of assaulting Gorchals.

Although Gorchals won a verdict he will be forced to pay the court costs as under the law a plaintiff must pay the costs if the verdict does not exceed $50. It is more than likely, court attaches said, that the costs will amount to more than the judgment. The case opened before Judge Theodore Berg Monday morning and went to the jury at 4:10. They arrived at a verdict at 4:40.

CHARGE ILL-TREATMENT CAUSED DEATH OF YOUTH

Marquette, Mich. — (AP) — Charges that a 21-year-old youth died in Soldiers' Home hospital, Milwaukee, last January because of ill-treatment accorded him by three officials of Iron Mountain, Mich., are made in an action started in federal court here Monday.

The dead youth is Harold Hartnett. The administratrix of his estate, his sister, Mrs. George Seitelbein, West Allis, is suing for $10,000. The complaint relates that on Sept. 12 Hartnett was arrested by Milwaukee detectives on charges preferred at Iron Mountain by a girl who named him as father of her child. Hartnett, the complaint says, was taken from the hospital and held in jail 41 hours, during which time he was refused proper food. Iron Mountain officers are accused of denying him food altogether on the automobile trip to Iron Mountain.

Sheriff Rudolph Freeman of Iron Mountain, Ed. Corry, undersheriff, and Arthur Johnson, a deputy, are the defendants in the action.

The girl repudiated her story upon the latter's arrival in Iron Mountain and the charges were dropped. Hartnett returned to the hospital where he died Jan. 20. Mrs. Seitelbein alleges her brother would have recovered had he not been taken into custody.

DEATHS

MRS. WOLFGRAF PRITZL

Mrs. WolfgRAF Pritzl, 57, town of Woodville, Calumet-co., died late Monday afternoon at her home. She was born in Whitelaw, Wis., and married WolfgRAF Pritzl in that city on Nov. 9, 1896. MELLON BACKS U. S. COAST GUARDSMEN IN 'I'M ALONE' SINKING

Forwards Official Report of Incident to State Department

Washington — (AP) — The treasury department is standing squarely back of its coast guard service in defense of the sinking of the British schooner "I'm Alone" in the Gulf of Mexico Friday by the patrol boat Dexter.

Forwarding the first official report of the incident of the state department, Secretary Mellon has taken the position that the Dexter was within its rights in firing upon the alleged rum runner when its master refused to leave to after a "continuous pursuit" about 200 miles into the gulf from a point "within four leagues of our coast."

Meanwhile, it is becoming increasingly doubtful that the same view will be taken by the British and Canadian governments. Their diplomatic representatives here are awaiting an opportunity to examine the official reports from the coast guard and the British consulate at New Orleans, where the crew of the sunken vessel was landed. If these confirm current newspaper accounts of the sinking, in which one British seaman was drowned, they are expected to take a serious view of the incident and vigorous protests are not at all unlikely.

Although it operated under Canadian registry, the "I'm Alone" is described in official circles here as having been built especially for rum-running by an American bootlegger now in prison at Boston.

Mellon cited evidence indicating rum running operations by the ship out of Belize, British Honduras, in February and March, and asserted that "on March 20, the coast guard patrol boat Wolcott picked up the 'I'm Alone' within 12 miles of the Louisiana coast," and "called upon the smuggler to leave to for boarding the examination, as authorized by the United States tariff act."

The Progress club held its first meeting Monday night at the Appleton Vocational school. The club is composed of students of the American School of Chicago and was formed for the purpose of promoting cooperative efforts of the student body, both as to its training program and employment phases.

Plans for the year were discussed and records made last year were announced. M. J. V. Rose, advisor of the club, outlined future activities while John A. Lonsdorf gave a talk on training. F. P. Reynolds and R. W. Seuffert, both of Chicago, talked on employment phases of the school.

Another meeting will take place on April 15. There are 136 members in the club.

YOUTH HIT BY TRUCK IS SLIGHTLY BETTER

The condition of Alvin Kasuboski, who was injured at Clintonville Saturday afternoon, is favorable, though he is still in a critical condition. The boy suffered a fractured skull and a hemorrhage of the brain when he was struck by a Bell Telephone Co. truck as he stepped from the running board of a Tilson delivery truck. He was brought to St. Elizabeth hospital in this city.

LIONS DISCUSS NEW SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

An open forum discussion on the proposed construction of a new Senior high school on the Riverview Country club site was the feature of the dinner meeting of the Lions club at the Conway hotel, Monday afternoon. Individual opinions were expressed by J. J. Nolan, superintendent of schools; Dr. Charles Bolock, member of the board of education; John Goodland, Jr., and Mark Catlin.

GERMANY'S NEW 'MYSTERY SHIP' OUTWITS TREATY

New Sea Terror Makes Other Boats Obsolete, but Is Within the Law

BY MILTON BRONNER (Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)

London — When the new German battleship, Ersatz Preussen slid down the ways the other day and splashed noisily into the water, the spray that she tossed up sent some very cold shivers running up and down the spines of the leaders of the world's leading navies.

It would be an exaggeration to say that the existence of this new battleship has made all other warships obsolete. Yet the real situation is close enough to that to make naval tacticians — particularly those of Great Britain and France — pause and reflect.

The situation is simply this: Germany, reduced to object naval importance by the Versailles treaty, abruptly reveals itself as possessed of the most modern warship afloat. There is no other ship like the Ersatz Preussen; no other ship is equipped to do battle with her on anything like equal terms.

The story of the construction of this new ship is fascinating — fascinating because in its history is repeating itself.

More than a century ago, Prussia was conquered by a foreign power. To make Prussia's military strength insignificant, the conqueror compelled Prussia to limit her standing army to about a tenth of its former leaders, taking thought, beat the size. But the Prussian military name by installing compulsory military service on short-term enlistments. Presently they had an army that kept within the letter of the treaty but was really larger and stronger than before.

So with the Ersatz Preussen. To understand the ship it is necessary to review briefly the Treaty of Versailles.

The Allied leaders were determined to make Germany helpless in a military way. In the treaty they put the following restrictions on the German navy:

Germany could neither build nor own any submarines at all. Germany could have only six battleships, each battleship not to exceed 10,000 tons in displacement.

She could have only six light cruisers, not exceeding 6,000 tons apiece.

She could have but 12 destroyers, not over 700 tons apiece, and 12 torpedo boats, not over 200 tons apiece.

This, it was felt, would remove

13,000 BALLOTS ARE TURNED OVER TO CLERK

Exactly 13,000 official ballots for use at the judicial election on Tuesday, April 2, were turned over to Carl J. Becher, city clerk, by the printers Tuesday. Election supplies, including the official referendum ballot and the official ballot for judicial and school superintendent election, as well as tally sheets and other election supplies, were received by Mr. Becher from John E. Hantschel, county clerk, Saturday.

Only two or three applications for ballots have been received so far by Mr. Becher from persons intending to be absent from the city on election day.

PRETZELLERS MEETING

The Pretzellers club met at the home of Clyde Schwenkel, W. Lawrence-st, Monday evening. Business matters were transacted and cards were played in the social hour which followed. Next week the club will be entertained at the home of Louis Waltman, Jr., 932 E. Eldorado-st.

SPEEDER Fined

David Goldberg, Fond du Lac, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested Tuesday morning by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, for traveling 40 miles an hour on E. College-ave.

When a Feller Needs a Friend

Spring Alibi

Forever the threat of a strong German navy. Is not the average modern battleship, such as Germany cannot build, a giant of 25,000 or 30,000 tons? What could six 10,000-ton ships ever do?

HINDENBURG'S APPEAL

The German technical experts began to get busy. The result is the Ersatz Preussen, the 20,000-ton price of which was voted by the Reichstag only after President Hindenburg had made a personal appeal for it.

To begin with, they kept within the treaty limit of 10,000 ton weight. Instead of erecting hull and plates, they welded them electrically. There is not a rivet in the ship — and, consequently, much weight has been saved. In addition, the hull and armor are far stronger than on any other ship of similar class.

Then they invented a new feather-weight Diesel engine that represents a truly revolutionary step in marine engines. Lighter and computer than any engine yet built, it never develops the amazing total of 50,000 horsepower as compared with the 45,000 possessed by the greatest battleships afloat, the English Nelson and Rodney, which weigh 35,000 tons each.

This engine will give the Ersatz Preussen a top speed of 26 knots an hour and a cruising range, without refueling, of 10,000 miles.

QUICK FIRING GUNS

Then came the guns. Six 11-inch rifles were installed in triple armored turrets and given high elevation mounts to increase their range. They are quick firers, too; each gun can throw three 670-pound shells a minute, to an effective range of 30,000 yards. For a secondary battery, the Ersatz Preussen has eight six-inch guns in turrets a number of anti-aircraft guns and six torpedo tubes.

Not is that all. A new system of dividing the hull into watertight compartments has made the Ersatz Preussen practically unsinkable by mines or torpedoes — or so, at least naval men say.

On top of all this, the warship has a shallow draft than any other ship of anything like its size. In the shallow waters of the Baltic sea it will be invulnerable. It can steam into shallows where other ships, especially submarines, cannot approach it. Yet its freedom is high enough so that heavy weather will not put any of its guns out of action.

It is when the ship is compared with other warships that the true inwardness of the situation is understood.

SPEED AND ARMOR

The Ersatz Preussen make 26 knots an hour. This does not compare with the 31 knots which the

The Windows Can Be the Keynote

Your windows can set the tempo for your whole furnishing scheme. Their colors, the richness of their fabrics, the formality of their arrangement will echo and reinforce every other element of decoration in the room. Our staff will be glad to help you in planning draperies.

Tailored to Your Own Windows

Draperies should be tailored as carefully as a fine suit of clothes, if they are to look smart. Our custom drapery department will do this for you expertly. We will send a man to your house to measure your windows, and our workshop will cut and fit the fabrics in the style of your choice.

DRAPERIES

THE addition of a Drapery Department to our store, now makes it the most complete Home Furnishing Establishment in the City of Appleton and vicinity. In opening this department we have endeavored to serve our customers better than they have ever been served before. To make this possible we have secured the services of Mr. Otto Tank and Miss E. Smith, formerly of Pettibone's. We also have built one of the finest workrooms in the state, having in it the very latest and finest machines for the making of draperies, carpet and window shades. To appreciate what we have to offer, you really have to see it so we heartily extend a personal invitation to visit our New Drapery and Rug Department.

How to Cover Your Floors Effectively is a Question Easily Solved by Us!

When you arrive at spring house cleaning time, you usually find a number of places about the house that need new floor coverings. We can take care of that for you easily. First of all, we have a stock so large you can find just the right pattern for any room, and our staff will help you with the selection, if you have any doubts, so you may be certain of choosing the correct color and design. Next, you know that the grade you buy is made for good, long wear. We carry no other kind. And finally, you are assured of moderate prices, honest and fair, whatever you choose.

Carpeted Floors Are Enjoying A Revival!

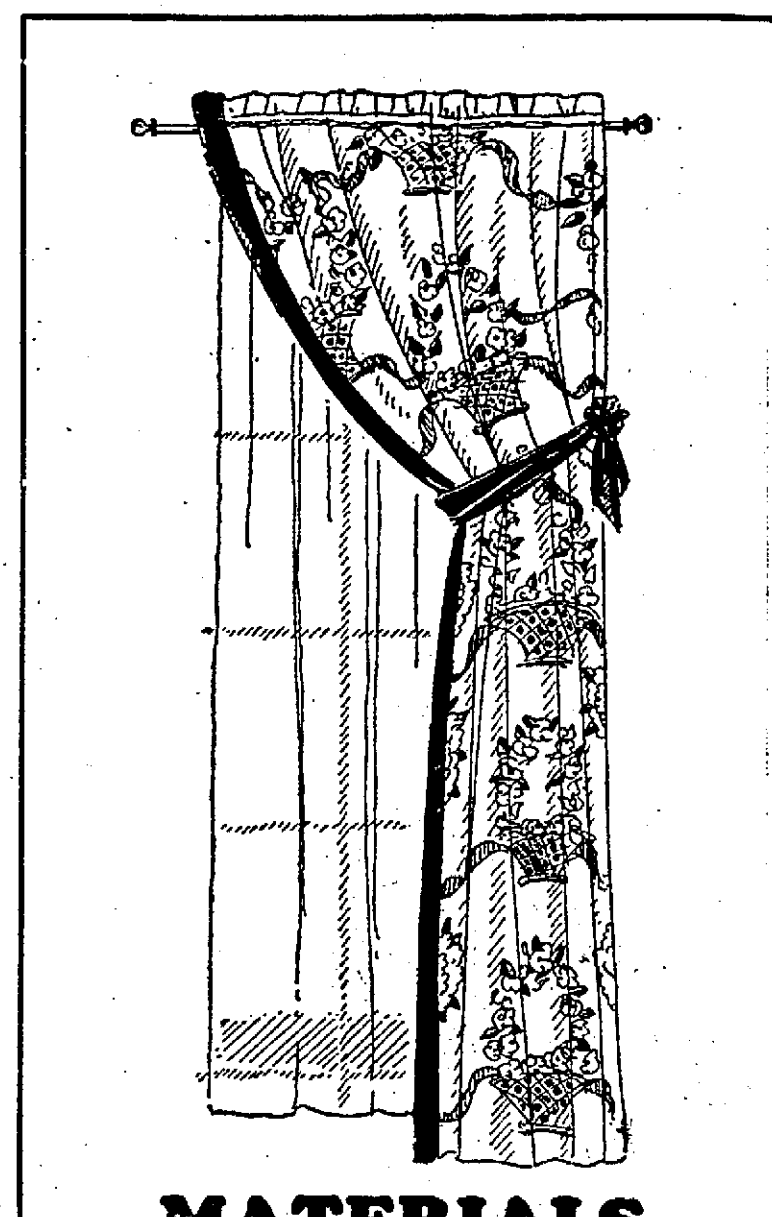

Carpeted floors are back in vogue once more, a lovely foundation for all types of rooms. We have carpeting in soft, rich plain colors and in all-over patterns. The plain colors are especially good for small rooms, laid down from wall to wall, making the room seem larger. Rooms that receive hard wear—dining rooms, halls, etc.—find a figured carpet advisable for it is not so likely to show spots. Axminster, Wilton and Velvet Carpeting, 27"—$2.95 to $6.00 per yd.
